FAUBUS SAYS . . .

Arkansas NG Used In Cuba

Little Rock, Ark. (AP)—Twelve Arkansas National Guardsmen were recruited by the federal government for the abortive Cuban invasion, and some flew combat missions to the Bay of Pigs, Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday.

Some of the Arkansas guardsmen were full-time men and others were "weekend warriors," Faubus told a news conference. He added that they were taken to Nicaragua for the combat missions to Cuba.

"They were paid for their duty either by the government or through the regular guard payroll," Faubus said. "They were told they were volunteering for a dangerous mission in which there might be shooting but that it was in the national interest."

All 12 Back

He said all 12 were back in Arkansas now, but he would not release their names.

In Washington, both the White House and the Pentagon declined comment. However, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said last week that no U.S. military personnel were involved in the invasion.

Faubus said he knew about the situation all the time, but it had been top secret.

Removed

An Arkansas National Guard plane was taken by the federal government which said it was being removed from service, Faubus said. Then when Arkansas guardsmen got to Nicarauga they recognized the plane and noted that it had been armed with machine-guns, he said.

Faubus said a number of U.S. planes were used in the invasion and the men that flew them were told that the Cubans did not have aircraft capable of shooting them down. But some were shot down.

"If they (the government) were that misinformed about the situation then, how misinformed are they now?" he asked.

Don't Know!

Brig. Gen. Frank Bailey, chief of staff for Arkansas' Air National Guard, said "I don't even know what he (Faubus) is talking about."

"The Air Guard did not have any planes involved," he said. If there was a plane from Arkansas, he said, "I would sure like to know about it."

The governor mentioned the Arkansans after being asked for comment on the disclosure that 4 Alabama fliers were killed in the invasion.

Disgrace

"This whole thing is a disgrace in American history," Faubus said. "They tried to recruit some men in the north and couldn't do it, so they came south where they still have some patriotism and got volunteers among the National Guard."

The Arkansas Democrat Wednesday quoted a "high-ranking National Guard officer," whom it did not name, as saying some Arkansas guardsmen trained the invaders.

It said he indicated they participated as soldiers of fortune and not as guardsmen.

Adopt Tough Policy

...ON U.N. COSTS

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) —The United States served notice on the United Nations Wednesday that it will pay only its assessed share of future peace-keeping operations and nothing more unless other countries meet their part of the costs.

U.S. Ambassador Francis T. P. Plimpton laid down the policy in a closed meeting of a working group of 21 countries seeking a formula for the financing of future operations like the Congo and the Middle East, which have almost bankrupted the world organization.

Informed sources said Plimpton's declaration was "tough" and caused a stir among the delegates, whose work on a financial policy for presentation to a special session of the General Assembly called for May 14 has thus far been unspectacular.

The refusal of the Soviet Union and its Communist partners, and a number of other countries — notably, including France, Belgium, South Africa and some Latin American states — to contribute anything to the peace-keeping costs has caused a U.N. deficit disclosed by Secretary General Thant Tuesday night to be $72 million and likely to increase to $127 million by the end of June.

Although the General Assembly has approved a world court advisory opinion that peace-keeping costs are legally part of the regular budget subject to legally binding assessment on all members, Latin American countries have been pushing a proposal to have the bulk of such financing levied against the major powers.

The U.S. delegation issued a statement saying:

"The U.S. delegation must, of course, respect the fact that the proceedings of the working group are closed. However, the general position that the United States is taking on this subject is the following:

"The United States considers the continuance of the U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Middle East and, on a reduced level, in the Congo, to be important to the United States and the entire world. For this reason, since 1957, the United States has made large, voluntary contributions each year to the financing of these operations in addition to its regular scale assessments.

"While a number of states have recognized their membership, responsibilities toward these operations by providing troops and services and paying their assessments, many others have not.

"As a result, the United Nations financial situation has deteriorated and, despite the recent bond issue, remains very serious.

"The U.S. position on any future contribution above our regular scale assessment for peace-keeping operations will be decisively influenced in the months ahead by the financial support which members of the United Nations actually provide."

The U.S.-assessed share of the operations in the Congo and the Middle East is 32.02%. Actually, through voluntary contributions, it has paid almost 50% of the Congo costs.

New Threat Fails To Disturb Miners

Paris (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's government warned Wednesday night it would crack down with "new measures" soon unless 200,000 striking coal miners end their defiance of state "requisition" orders and return to work.

Government spokesman Alain Peyrefitte issued the warning after De Gaulle conferred with his cabinet for the second straight day on how to make peace with the striking miners without loss of face and prevent their walkout from spreading.

But all 3 striking miners' unions — the Catholics, Socialists and Communists—issued communiques after the cabinet meeting saying they will continue their walkout.

Aid Promised

The National Education Federation announced it will provide financial aid to the miners to enable them to continue the strike until they have achieved their goal of higher wages and shorter hours.

The miners, who began their strike Friday, have been defying a government requisition order that would make them liable to fines, prison terms and loss of jobs if they refused to return to work. But there was so much public sympathy behind the miners, who are pressing for wage increases, that the government was forced to tread warily.

Riot police and gendarmes stood by in barracks and mining areas as authorities feared the slightest clash between police and miners could touch off a nationwide labor crisis.

Necessary

Peyrefitte, who is minister of information, told newsmen Wednesday night the government "considers it necessary that the requisition order be obeyed."

He announced Premier Georges Pompidou will go before the nation with a radio and television message "in about two or 3 days."

Peyrefitte said the government also discussed the possibility of rationing coal and gas if necessary.

State Demos' Central Body Meets May 4

Lincoln Star Special

Newcastle — Democratic State Chairman Russell Hanson announced Wednesday he has called a meeting of the State Central Committee to be held in Omaha May 4.

He made the call after receiving a request for a meeting from 6 committee members.

Purpose of the meeting, Hanson said, is to encourage cooperation of committee members to work with county chairmen to start fund-raising drives to help counties meet their quotas to the state central committee.

Quotas Out

Hanson said quotas were sent to each county chairman and member of the state central committee last week.

The state chairman also said the May 4 meeting in Omaha coincides with one previously called by the Democratic executive committee.

The central committee members who requested the meeting were Norman Krivosha, Lillian Newell and Virginia Hall, all of Lincoln; Roseann Jacobsen of Grand Island; Shirley Wilken of Columbus, and Dolores Springer of Crete.

Right-Of-Way Fund Moves

. . . $1.5 MILLION FOR ADVANCE LAND BUYING

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation to establish a $1.5 million fund for the advance acquisition of highway right-of-way was advanced to the floor of the Unicameral Wednesday by a 4-2 vote of the Public Works Committee.

Under amended terms of the bill, LB574, the new fund would be initiated Jan. 1, 1964, by the transfer of $1.5 million from the State Roads Department highway cash fund. An amendment to that effect was adopted, 4-3.

The revolving fund would then continue to be financed by monthly appropriations of $10,000 from the gasoline tax fund. Balance in the new fund would never be allowed to exceed $2 million.

Up To 3 Years

The highway department would also be prohibited from using money in the new fund to purchase right-of-way more than 3 years in advance of planned construction.

Sen. Michael Russillo of Omaha, chief sponsor of the measure, told the committee such legislation will allow roads to be built quicker and cheaper.

Deputy State Engineer Jerry Strobel noted that the department could now establish such a fund on its own initiative, but pressures to use all available money for construction purposes have prevented such action.

Robert Crosby of Lincoln, representing the Better Nebraska Association, pointed out that the highway department would be unlikely to start such a fund "unless the Legislature adopts it as policy."

A good highway program, he said, "involves buying right-of-way well in advance" of construction.

No witnesses testified in opposition to the proposal.

Russillo noted that "many (highway) jobs have been held up because right-of-way purchases were delayed until the last moment."

Substantial savings could be made, he noted, if right-of-way is purchased on undeveloped land before it is improved or used in suburban development.

Power Extension

Also heard and advanced (7-0) was LB537, extending a first class city's powers of eminent domain for specified municipal purposes beyond the present 10-mile limit.

Specifically at issue were possible needs of the cities to go beyond 10 miles for water and sewage facilities.

In other action, the committee unanimously advanced:

—LB502, revising motor vehicle fuel terms.

—LB523, allowing contractors to receive temporary permits to move out sized equipment on highways, specifically excluding the Interstate.

—LB693, removing property boundary line restrictions on eminent domain authority of rural electric districts, membership associations and municipalities.

—LB694, allowing such agencies to acquire easements of rights-of-way upon school lands through exercise of eminent domain.

Capital Punishment Abolition Bill Killed

A bill which would have abolished capital punishment in Nebraska was killed by a 4-3 vote of the Judiciary Committee Wednesday.

Hearing on the measure, LB519, introduced by Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City, attracted a sizable number of both proponents and opponents Monday.

Support for abolishment of capital punishment came principally from various religious groups, while opposition to the measure came chiefly from law enforcement organizations.

Also killed by the committee, on a 6-1 vote, was LB68, introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, which would have provided that the attorney general must appoint legal counsel for public power and irrigation districts.

The committee advanced LB599, heard previously, which provides a penalty for raising a false alarm or false report of a fire in any rural area.

Four measures received public hearing before the committee Wednesday, but no action was taken on these bills in executive session.

They were LBs 553, 673, 674 and 675.

LB553, introduced by Sens. Carpenter and Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, would revise eminent domain law to provide that condemnees shall be reimbursed for losses they may sustain.

Two related measures, LBs 674 and 675, provide when an officer of the law may search an automobile and when an officer may search an individual.

Lincoln attorney Robert Guenzel testified on both measures as a representative of the Police Officers Association of Nebraska. He cited the Elgart case as a point in which police were unable to legally seize narcotics.

LB673, introduced by Sens. Mahoney and Sam Klaver of Omaha, would increase the jurisdiction of magistrates.

Wife Facing Charge In Wounding Of Husband

By NANCY RAY
Star Staff Writer

Mrs. Karen Goodteacher, 21, of 1344 D, will be arraigned Thursday morning in County Court in connection with the shooting of her 18-year-old husband Tuesday night.

Eddie Goodteacher, who has won several Golden Gloves boxing championships under the name of Phillips, is listed in fair condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital where he underwent surgery for removal of .25 caliber bullets in his stomach and head.

Deputy County Atty. Ron Lahners said Mrs. Goodteacher had admitted purchasing the gun involved in the incident, and of quarreling and scuffling with her husband at the time the shots were fired.

Statements Taken

Lahners reported that statements had been taken from Mrs. Goodteacher and a youth who was with the couple at the time of the shooting. Goodteacher also was interviewed, Lahners said, but the specific charge in the case had not been determined late Wednesday.

Receipts found in Mrs. Goodteacher's purse when she was brought in for questioning and jailed for safekeeping showed the pistol had been purchased Monday and ammunition Tuesday, according to Deputy Sheriff William C. Greiner.

Other items found in her possession were 18 bullets, two types of pills, and a blue scarf with several holes in it and powder burns.

The shooting occurred, according to investigating deputy sheriffs, on 84th St. between Leighton and Adams, where the Goodteachers and a 16-year-old youth accompanying them, had stopped the car.

The youth told law officers that he had been with Goodteacher most of the day and that they had been joined by Mrs. Goodteacher later in the day.

Argued And Scuffled

He said the couple was taking him home, stopped, began to argue about Goodteacher's behavior, and then to scuffle.

The youth related that he left his seat in the car to try to stop the argument but that shots were fired before he arrived, and Goodteacher started to run away.

He further told investigating officers that after firing the gun several times, Mrs. Goodteacher turned it on herself, and pulled the trigger. The gun was empty, he said.

Staggered To Farm

The sheriff's office was notified of the shooting by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paap of 8001 Leighton Ave. after Goodteacher staggered on to the porch of their farm home—almost a mile from the scene of the shooting — and told them he'd been shot.

Mrs. Goodteacher and the youth later drove past the Paap residence, were stopped by a neighbor, and questioned by sheriff's deputies.

The deputies' report said Mrs. Goodteacher told them she had written a letter to her mother, who lives in Lincoln, telling her mother that she planned to commit suicide.

Deputies investigating the shooting scene said they found one spent cartridge, several hair curlers and a blood spot.

NU Students To Remain At Capital Hotel

Some 140 male students at the University of Nebraska again will be housed in the top 4 floors of the Capital Hotel during the school year next fall.

William C. Harper, director of services at the University, said Wednesday that University housing has not expanded with enrolment, and that the hotel will be used as long as needed to absorb the overflow from the Selleck Quadrangle and Twin Towers.

The Towers, Harper said, will be finished by fall, and will relieve a lot of pressure, but less than 500 men can be housed there.

The University expects some 1,500 male students who request housing next fall to be quartered off campus.

Harper said that plans for additional male housing in a new dormitory unit east of 17th street are still being formulated.

However, he added, nothing can be done with these plans until funds are allocated in the University expansion program.

Linda: 'I Am Surprised He Would Behave Like A Rat'

Hollywood (UPI) — Actor Glenn Ford and actress Linda Christian ended a brief romance Wednesday in an explosion of name-calling and charges over announcement of their engagement.

Miss Christian announced Tuesday night that she and Ford were engaged and would be married in Europe this spring.

Wednesday Ford said, "absolutely not true. I have never proposed to Linda, and I have never intended to marry her."

Shocked

The fiery, titian-haired ex-wife of the late Tyrone Power said she was shocked to hear that the actor had cancelled their engagement.

"He's been asking me to marry him for months," she told United Press International, "and I had been turning him down. Tuesday night he seemed sincere and I agreed to go ahead with the engagement.

"I was happy about sharing my life with Glenn in a worthwhile union. After all, getting engaged isn't something you do every day."

Ford answered, "I don't want to dispute a lady's word, but this is becoming ludicrous. The more it goes the funnier it gets."

Miss Christian, who once was picketed in South America by friends of playboy "Baby" Pignatari carrying signs reading "Linda go home," became enraged at Ford's denial.

"He came over to my house Tuesday night—obviously I didn't drag him there. He had 3 helpings of wiener schnitzel and a glass of wine—also 3 crepes suzettes, proposing all the while. He said I was the only complete woman he ever met and that all the others were nitwits by comparison.

Needs A Rest

"I am surprised that he would behave like a rat. I wouldn't marry him unless he takes a complete rest. He needs it.

"He got back recently from a tour around the country for his new movie. I received dozens of calls asking me to join him in the trip. I refused. His behavior is childish. Usually when he asks me to marry him he cries. Tuesday night he didn't cry for a change."

Ford's final comment was: "she must be kidding."

Soviets Have Arms Stored In Cuban Pits

Washington (AP)—The Army's top intelligence officer said Wednesday that Soviet military supplies, including ammunition, vehicles and aircraft, probably are stored in thousands of caves in Cuba, but not offensive missiles or bombers.

Maj. Gen. Alva R. Fitch also voiced doubt there are any nuclear warheads on the island.

Soviet ground force withdrawals so far appear to be limited to those associated with the intermediate-aircraft and medium-range missiles removed under U.S. pressure last October, he added.

Censored

Fitch expressed his views at a closed hearing of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee. A censored version was made available to newsmen.

He said there "is considerable activity in connection with underground installations (caves) throughout the island." But he discounted recurring reports by Cuban refugees that strategic weapons may be hidden there.

"It is our belief that the Soviets did, in fact, remove all strategic weapons systems that were in Cuba . . . ," he said.

Soviets

Indications are that the activity around the caves is being carried out solely by Soviet personnel, Fitch continued, and even high-ranking Cuban military personnel are not permitted there.

The several thousand caves in Cuba have been used for storage over the years, he said. With airconditioning and installation of dehumidifying equipment they could even be used to store "both large and delicate electronic items," he said.

"Aerial photography has further revealed the extension of roads to known and suspected cave locations," the general said, "and it is considered highly probable that much military equipment and supplies are being stored underground."

None There

The shorter range ground-to-air ground-to-ground Soviet missiles still in Cuba may have a nuclear capability, he acknowledged, although adding that no nuclear warheads are believed there.

Plane Mishap Claims Grand Ole Opry Stars

Camden, Tenn. (AP) — The shattered bodies of Patsy Cline, Hawkshaw Hawkins and Cowboy Copas — all top country singers — were found Wednesday in the wreckage of a small plane which crashed near the Tennessee River.

The Grand Ole Opry stars along with their pilot and Miss Cline's manager, Randy Hughes, 35, were killed when the plane plunged to earth on a wooded hill, 5 miles northwest of here and 85 miles west of Nashville.

They were returning to their Nashville homes from Kansas City, Kan., where they had given a benefit performance for the family of Cactus Jack Call, a radio disc jockey killed in a recent traffic accident.

Sympathy

Inquiries and expressions of sympathy came from virtually every state to WSM, Nashville radio station, which is the home of the 35-year-old opry country music program.

The plane crashed a few thousand yards from U.S. Highway 70, and attracted many spectators.

"Lord, I've knowed Copas since he started singing in Birmingham," one of them told a reporter. "I went to a cafe a while ago and everybody in there was almost in tears."

Few Trees Hit

Pieces of the plane were strewn over an area of about 30 square yards. Although the scene is heavily wooded, relatively few trees were damaged — indicating the light craft plunged almost directly downward.

Scattered debris told of the victims' background — a smashed guitar, cracked in two between the lettering "Hawkshaw" and "Hawkins." A white western belt said in black, tooled lettering: "Patsy Cline." A similar one said "Cowboy Copas." There was fancy cowboy clothing, a pair of cowboy boots — sitting together neartly — and a guitar pick in the mud.

Miss Cline, 29, was a native of Winchester, Va. She got her start on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts television program in the mid 50s and joined the opry in 1960. Some of her biggest hits were "I Fall to Pieces" and "Walking After Midnight." She was last year's "outstanding female vocalist" as judged by leading publications in the country and western music field.

Oklahoma

Copas, 49, was a native of Muskogee, Okla., and a singer on the opry for 17 years.

Hawkins, 43, was associated with 3 big money-making records: "Slow Poke." "Soldiers Joy," and "Bad News Travels Fast." This tall, broad-shouldered performer — noted for the sequined hawk on the back of his white outfit— joined the opry in 1955 after working out of West Virginia, his home state, on radio, and in wild west shows.

His wife, Jean Shepard, also an opry singer, announced this week that she was expecting their second child.

With Soviet Withdrawal From Cuba

Washington (AP)— President Kennedy said Wednesday he is not satisfied with the rate at which Soviet troops are leaving Cuba. At the same time, he said he has no accurate information on the real extent of the withdrawal.

This and other Cuba-related topics dominated Kennedy's morning news conference which, in the domestic area, drew these major presidential pronouncements:

— Kennedy believes that Congress will pass a tax cut this year and couple it with "important elements" of the tax law revisions he is seeking. While Kennedy has said rate cuts would get priority over tax revision, if the choice arose, he restated his view that a combination of both would represent "the fairest and most equitable program."

— Asked about Republican claims that up to $15 billion can be cut from budget requests, the President said, "you may be able to cut some of it." But he described his record $98.9-billion budget as the product of "hard decisions" to curb major programs. And he questioned whether further cuts could be made without crimping defense, space or essential domestic activities.

The question of Soviet performance in carrying out a pledge to withdraw several thousand troops from Cuba by mid-March came in 3 parts: Does the administration have accurate information on the number already removed? Is Kennedy satisfied with the rate of withdrawal? Does the United States have any arrangement with the Soviets to verify the promised pullout.

Kennedy replied, without elaboration:

"No, the answer to your question would really be no to all of them."

Kennedy said at another point the administration believes "the wisest policy is the isolation of communism in this hemisphere" by trying to confine it to Cuba. As an example, he said the United States hopes other hemisphere countries will control the movement of their citizens to and from Cuba — because these people could be potential saboteurs or revolutionaries.

While emphasizing the "isolation" policy, Kennedy drew away from a suggestion that Cuba's Communist government be undermined by more forceful action aimed at cutting off its access to vital oil imports.

Kennedy said this would require a naval blockade which he described as an act of war. He said that "at this time we do not believe that war in the Caribbean is to the national advantage."

On 3 other topics tied to the Cuban situation:

—Kennedy said that 4 American fliers who died in the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion "were serving their country" on a voluntary flight. He declined to go further, saying that "because of the nature of their work it has not been a matter of public record." There has been much speculation that the 4 men were employes by the Central Intelligence Agency.

—Using hindsight, Kennedy said, it might have been possible to have uncovered the October installation of Soviet missiles and bombers in Cuba a few days sooner than was the case. But in view of the end result, the withdrawal of the offensive weapons, Kennedy said, "I don't think that anybody should feel that anything but a good job was done."

—The President sees no prospect of renewing diplomatic relations with Cuba, nor does he know of any Cuban desire toward this end.

Electricity At Last Reaches Hopi Lands

Keams Canyon, Ariz. (AP)— Electric power finally has reached some of the oldest communities in the United States.

Power lines now stretch 60 miles across the remote Hopi Indian Reservation in northern Arizona.

Old Oraibi, close to the lines, is said by some archaeologists to be the oldest continually inhabited town in North America.

Until recently, traditionalists on the reservation fought the 20th Century successfully, keeping the wires and wheels of progress off their lands.

Now, 11 electricians trained by Arizona Public Service Co., do a brisk business installing wiring in centuries-old walls of stone and mud.

Religious rites once held in fire-lit kivas, sunken amphitheaters, now are held under electric flood lights.

A silversmith has a new electric-powered buffing wheel and women have traded in their noisy gasoline-engine powered washing machines for new electric ones.

So far, 265 dwellings and establishments have been wired, with electricity going into new neighborhoods every month.

Still, the power lines skirt some traditionalist pueblos. In these villages, conservative Hopi leaders seek to preserve their ancient culture.

Counts Against Beck, Five Others Dropped

Tacoma, Wash. (AP)— The federal government said Wednesday "the slate has been wiped clean" of income tax evasion charges against Dave Beck Sr. and 5 others accused of conspiring with him.

Beck, former boss of the Teamsters Union, has been in McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary near here since last June 20 serving a 5-year sentence for filing false income tax information returns for the union.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jack S. Obenour said all remaining charges against Beck and the others were dismissed in U.S. District Court Monday.

Conspiracy charges were dropped against Nathan W. Shefferman and his son, Shelton, of Chicago; and Norman J. Gessert, Dave Beck Jr., and the late Fred Verschuren Sr., all of Seattle.

Defendants in the conspiracy charges never came to trial. The elder Beck was convicted in December, 1957, of evading $240,000 in income taxes for 1950-53 and on two counts of filing false returns for the union.

The tax evasion conviction was set aside in January, 1962, by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco on the question of the taxability of embezzled funds, and the case was sent back for retrial.

Obenour said the government decided not to try Beck again for tax evasion since he already was serving a prison sentence. Judge George H. Boldt added in dismissing the charges "it would be a waste of public funds to carry prosecution further."

Beck is 68 and will not be eligible for parole for nearly another year. In addition to the prison term, he paid a fine of $20,000 and $12,000 court costs. While in federal prison he also is serving a two-year concurrent minimum term on a state grand larceny conviction in the sale of a union-owned automobile.

4 MEN KILLED AS LINE SNAPS ON CABLE CART

Hardin, Mont. (AP) — Four workmen riding in a cable cart across the deep Yellowtail Dam construction gorge were killed Wednesday when a cable broke and hurled them halfway down the canyon wall.

Coroner Everett Bullis identified the dead as Sidney A. Lyning, 44, and Frank J. Blanco, 39, both of Billings, Mont., Orville L. Hamman, 48, a resident at the construction housing area known as Ft. Smith; and Adam Hartung, 30, of Hardin.

One cable on the basket-like conveyor snapped, dropping the car down the deep gorge.

Era Ending As Exeter Factory's Doors Close

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Exeter — After 67 years of continuous operation, the doors are closed here on the Charles C. Smith Index factory.

The subsidiary — practically a part of local tradition—got a surprise order from Office Products Inc. of Detroit for an immediate shutdown.

"We were notified one day to begin preparations the next for moving out equipment," said manager Frank Tauriella. "Within 5 days everything was on its way to Detroit."

Not quite as shocked as other Exeter residents, Tauriella said a central expansion had prompted the Michigan company's decision. The plant had reached its highest production ever of such office items as index tabs, signals and label holders.

"Ironically, I guess we worked ourselves right out of a job," the former New Yorker remarked.

He explained that automation had eliminated the need for a large labor force—and had made the operation more susceptible to being moved. With the factory 5 years, he rejected an offer to continue with Office Products in Detroit.

$50,000 Payroll

Although the recent work force of 9 to 12 was far from the plant's oldtime peak of approximately 75, the loss of an annual payroll of up to $50,000 prompted immediate concern among local businessmen. Banker Roy Stubbendick has been named to head up efforts to replace the lost industry.

"Of course this was a blow, but we hope some good may come from the loss," the committee chairman stated. "A little luck and a lot of hard work could make us even better off than before."

He added his regret that the sudden notice had precluded any local attempt to dissuade the company. The factory building, extensively modernized in recent years, still belongs to the Detroit firm.

Charles C. Smith started making the office products in 1896, operating the Exeter plant until his death in 1952. It then changed ownership twice before being purchased 3½ years ago by Office Products.

Tauriella, also a member of the new development committee, said he would like to remain in the community if possible. He married a local girl while stationed at the Fairmont Air Base.

Communist Party In Italy Drops 11 More Candidates

Rome (UPI) — The largest Communist Party outside the iron curtain dropped 11 more candidates Wednesday in a pre-election purge of old-timers and fellow travelers aimed at presenting a more "democratic" face to Italy's voters.

With Communist nominations for the April 28 general elections nearly complete, 64 of the party's 198 outgoing deputies and senators had been dropped from the tickets. More names are expected to be crossed off in Naples, raising the purge rate to more than one in 3.

Omaha Teacher Pleads Innocent To First Degree

Yuma, Ariz. (AP)—Betty Jane Nelum Thomas, 33, an Omaha school teacher, pleaded innocent to first degree murder Wednesday.

Judge William Nabours set her trial for March 26.

Mrs. Thomas is accused in the Christmas Eve shooting of David John McCoy, 33, also of Omaha.

McCoy was shot twice in the head and his body dumped on a Yuma side street.

Mrs. Thomas said the shooting occurred during an argument while the two struggled for possession of a pistol.

Stereotypers Enter Strike

New York (AP)—The Stereotypers Union declared itself on strike Wednesday night against 4 major dailies, adding another roadblock to solution of the city's 89-day newspaper shutdown.

The steroeotypers struck the same 4 papers — the Times, News, World Telegram and Sun and Journal-American — that were originally struck by the printers, causing the shutdown of all the city's major dailies.

The action by Local 1 of the AFL-CIO Stereotypers Union will have little immediate effect, but it could delay the resumption of publication by the dailies if they reach agreement with the printers.

Sterotypers' Local President James McMahon said he had been informed the publishers had made no commitment on issues he thought were settled last December, and his union had no alternative but to strike. He did not identify the issues involved.

The publishers, meanwhile, continued talks with the printers with some hopeful indications.

Bonds Set At $5,000 For 2 Escapees

Omaha (AP)— U.S. Commissioner A. Z. Donato Wednesday fixed bond at $2,500 each for two young women who escaped from the Minnesota Women's Reformatory Sunday.

The two, Mrs. Shirlee Ann Owens, 20, and Barbara Grantham, 18, were arrested in Omaha and held for arrival of federal warrants charging them with unlawful flight to avoid confinement.

Authorities picked up the trail of the two fugitives when William Ries, 24, Prior Lake, Minn., reported to Sioux Falls, S.D. police he had been forced at knife point to drive two women answering their description to Sioux Falls. Shortly afterward a station wagon owned by a Sioux Falls funeral home was stolen, and subsequently abandoned by the pair in Omaha.

Omaha detective Lt. Clarence Wilson said Mrs. Owens told him she sat next to Ries in the car and held a butcher knife at his throat. When his car ran out of gas they took $13 from him and left him $2 so he could get home. "I doubt very much if we would have hurt anybody," Mrs. Owens said.

When told that the car they had taken was owned by a funeral home Miss Grantham quipped: "Well, I guess that makes us hearse thieves."

Miss Grantham was serving a term for larceny and Mrs. Owens for burglary. Mrs. Owens also had been charged with 3rd degree murder along with two male companions for allegedly having encouraged Donald L. Schuck, 29, of Austin, Minn., to drink a large quantity of intoxicants which caused his death last June.

END OF THE WEDDING RECEPTION

The wedding reception has come to a splashy climax, and Louis Nye and Jill St. John lead the way out of the pool at the Beverly Hills Hotel Wednesday in this slapstick scene for the movie "Who's Been Sleeping In My Bed?" The script has the bridge Elizabeth Montgomery (second from left) and all the guests fall into the pool while posing for a wedding picture at the pool's edge. The "photographer" had asked them to step back a bit.

Sidney Couple Take Icy Dip

O'Neill—Mr. and Mrs. Jay Wilson of Sidney escaped injury when their car slipped off Highway 275 just east of O'Neill and was submerged in the Elkhorn River.

Wilson, who was driving, apparently lost control of the car on an icy spot, officers reported. The car rolled over twice down an embankment and came to rest upright in the river. Only the cab of the car was not under water.

The Wilsons managed to crawl from their station wagon and summoned help. They were en route home from Meadow Grove where they had attended a funeral.

Make Way For Banda

Blantyre, Nyasaland (AP) — Everyone — motorists, cyclists and pedestrians — must get off the road when Prime Minister Hastings Banda rides by in his car. "Those who do not give way . . . will be dealt with," warns Dr. Banda's Malawi Congress Party newspaper.

EIGHT E-WEEK FINALISTS

One of these 8 University of Nebraska coeds will reign as Miss E-Week over the April engineering week festivities. They are (seated from left) Ann Barger of Los Alamos, N.M., Susy Meyers of Lincoln, Sally Stevens of Lincoln, Anita Maxwell of Beatrice; (standing from left) Cathy Smith of Lincoln, Donna McFarlin of Springfield, Mo., Vicky Dowling of Omaha, and Pat Schmadeke of Lincoln. Engineering students will elect the winner.

Summary of Conditions

Skies will continue to clear, accompanied by more fair weather, over the Nebraska-Iowa region by Thursday forenoon. It will be partly cloudy in the afternoon with considerable cloudiness over much of the two-state area Thursday night. Scattered light snows are expected to develop along with colder weather in the north, Thursday night as a cold front pushes through the region.

A low center forming in the north portion of the Lake Winnipeg area, together with a cold front near the northwest North Dakota border, is slowly pushing into the Nebraska-Iowa region. By Thursday evening, the front is expected to form a line from central Michigan through northern Iowa to extreme northeast Nebraska and west central South Dakota. Lack of pressure in the rear of the cold front, coupled with low-level winds continuing mostly westerly, will inhibit any rapid southward movement of the cold front.

Connecticut Dam Bursts; Seven Hurt

Norwich, Conn. (AP) — A dam burst Wednesday night, sending shallow flood waters over much of the downtown area and causing a boiler explosion at a cord-manufacturing factory, police said.

At least 7 persons were injured, 4 of them in the explosion, which caused the factory to collapse, attendants at the William W. Backus Hospital said.

Police said "some people" were missing in the factory blast, but could not confirm the number.

Three small children, the oldest about 4, were found unconscious in a tree in the path of the flood. Police said they apparently were placed there to keep them out of the waters. Their father and mother were reported missing.

Sides Are Varied

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A constructive and charitable philosophy is often one most difficult to live with. In this area of things would fall the need for ability to distinguish between fact and prejudice. The Republican party recently had a demonstration of this. Its upcoming dinner in Omaha where Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York will speak is expected to be boycotted by a conservative arm of the party.

But leading party members have noted that this is the right of the conservatives if they choose to do so. It is probably that many Nebraskan Republicans do not believe that Governor Rockefeller is too liberal but that is not the entire question. Rather than choosing to argue the governor's political philosophy, the GOP simply accepted the planned boycott and let it go at that. The decision, it seems, was a wise one and one that might be followed by many other groups and individuals. The fact that someone disagrees with you does not make him wrong. This may seem to be a simple statement but it is an expression many make but refuse to subscribe to.

The Right To Disagree

There are those who profess to want equality of treatment and equality of treatment of ideas but who really want a one-sided presentation of things. Any furthering of the other side of things is taken as a misrepresentation of the facts. Such people really don't want fair play; they want everything their own way.

It was an inability to compromise that led to the split in the Democratic party in Nebraska — a split that is likely never to be healed so long as the adversaries involved are in positions of leadership and responsibility. It can be argued that there are times when compromise displays weakness and this is true but such occasions are comparatively rare.

★

Nebraska seems to be compromising in one area where many would argue it should not. It was noted by the Nebraska State Education Association that the state still has more school districts than are found in Hawaii, Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico combined. We have never seen the school district question put in these terms before and it makes the Nebraska total a most impressive one. The only trouble is, the impression is not a favorable one. Obviously, the condition is not a completely one-sided one or it would have ceased to exist a long time ago.

Among the 3,077 school districts in Nebraska, there are many where only a handful of students are holding forth. These are the districts that many professional educators would like to see consolidated. The logic behind this is that the small districts where from 15 to 50 students might be attending classes are inefficient and that these students cannot receive the kind of educational opportunity they are entitled to. And for those who subscribe to this theory, it is difficult, to say the least, to see the other point of view. Such small districts still require tax support and thus drain the limited resources that are available for education in the less populated sections of the state. And such districts cannot begin to supply the facilities and faculty that are needed for a good educational job.

It stands to reason that two districts of 30 pupils each could operate much more effectively and efficiently if they became one district. The efficiency and effectiveness would increase still further if it were a case of three districts combining into a single one of 100 pupils or more.

As separate units, each must provide a faculty in the various subjects of the curriculum and a physical plant to go along with the instruction. There should be science labs, workshops, gymnasiums, etc. Of course, the fact is that not all of these districts have such duplicating facilities which means that the children are suffering as a result.

These children will be much less prepared for college work than will the students of other larger districts. The other side of the story involves a great many things but the validity of that side is an open question. Its right to exist certainly is not challenged but it would seem to be doomed by the endless marching of time alone. Small districts want to hold on to their schools because of pride, because of transportation problems and because of economic factors quite apart from any educational considerations. And some may want to hold on due to an outdated concept of education.

An Indisputable Factor

The school district is often looked at as one of the last remaining assets of a community. To lose it would be like losing a major industry. Unfortunately, these districts cannot hold together the towns in which they are located. What our large number of districts constitutes is a stand against the inevitability of social and economic changes that are eating away at and destroying the smaller rural communities of the state.

The Power Of A Woman

Manly thinking, which from time immemorial has been directed intensely toward the opposite sex, has long since fallen into a comfortable pattern. It classifies women as attractive, mysterious, desirable and formidable bargainers. But it always dismisses them as a dangerous physical force. They are not associated with weight lifting or things having to do with demolition.

Well, old beliefs have to change. Men will have to readjust their thinking.

The Denver Post has found out through an industrial bulletin that a woman can punch her way through a concrete wall quicker than a man can do it with a jack hammer.

The secret is spiked heels. They are wearing down the mountains; making Swiss cheese out of office sky scrapers.

Take a pert 120 pound blonde, for instance, wearing the popular steel shaft type heel, bearing on an area of .0276 of a square inch. That means she can exert a pressure of 3,500 pounds by standing on one foot. That's more than 1.5 tons.

The Post has discovered that a 225 pound man, wearing 3 x 3 inch heels, imposes a pressure of only 12 pounds per square inch. An elephant, after a heavy meal, only bears down with a pressure of 50 to 100 pounds per area inch.

To make it worse. If the little gal happens to wear out the metal plate on her heel, leaving only a nail head, that nail head can exert a pressure of 60,000 pounds per square inch. That converts 120 pounds of curves into 30 tons of demolishing power.

The moral of this is a warning to the fellows who, in terms of the popular song, are "standing on the corner watching all the girls go by," and that warning is, "It's all right to look. But, brother, don't ever get underfoot."

Med School Black Eye

Unfortunately, Sen. Terry Carpenter is right in his analysis of the current situation involving the University of Nebraska College of Medicine. And the senator himself might well be the first to admit he wished he were wrong. He has said that the state should do nothing to provide the school with funds for expansion of its physical plant in view of the professional disagreement over the program.

This might normally not be the correct approach to something but in a field such as this, it is difficult to rely on anything other than the opinion of professional medical people. How can individuals outside the field of medicine decide completely by themselves on the merits or lack of merit of the medical school proposal?

School officials have indicated that accreditation of the institution will be lost if a modernization program is not undertaken. But if the doctors of Nebraska cannot agree even among themselves how such a modernization is to be accomplished, it is a little difficult for the Legislature to attempt to decide the issue and even more difficult for the general public to judge the issue.

The school's program had appeared to be a constructive one and one that would give the university a medical institution in which it could have pride. But when the state medical association could arrive at no decision in the matter, the plans of the school were given a serious if not fatal blow. And, as Senator Carpenter said in other words, the situation gives the public a poor image of the entire medical profession. The Legislature would be justified in delaying any action on the program until at least majority agreement has been reached within the profession.

Electronic Work Force

The Federal Reserve bank of Kansas City, which together with its branches at Omaha, Denver and Oklahoma City, processes 812,000 bank checks daily is moving swiftly into automation.

It does it by running checks through electronic machines at lightning speed, during which checks, which are coded by characters preprinted in magnetic ink, are sorted, computed, bookkept and prepared for redistribution to their respective banks of origin. The only reason that all the 812,000 daily inflow of checks are not so processed is that not all member banks bave yet adopted the electronic preprinting. Checks without it have to be handled by hand.

Nebraska is lagging the other states with only 56 per cent of its checks encoded. Colorado is more progressive. It encodes 86 per cent of its checks.

Automation is spreading swiftly in fields where volume or numbers run large. Internal Revenue just announced a centralization of operations in order to provide the fodder for mechanization of tax return examination. Such developments raise concern among those who worry about the creation of joblessness. In most respects it is a vain worry. It is rather a paradox. Automation has become a vital essential to the high velocity, high volume business of today. Without it we could not maintain nor increase it. And if we slowed down an infinitely greater number of people would be rendered jobless than would be displaced by mechanization.

Were it not for computers we could not be engaged in space activities. The complex mathematics solved so swiftly by machine would take an army of mathematicians figuring for several generations. If we went back to dead reckoning used by navigators in the old sailing ship days several jet crossings of the Atlantic would have to transpire before bearings could be computed for the first trip.

U.S. Compromise Aids Swiss Cartel

WASHINGTON — Harry Truman, out in Independence, Mo., will wonder what's happened to the supposedly tough little attorney general, Bob Kennedy, when he reads what Bobby is handing over to the Swiss front for I. G. Farben, Hitler's old chemical cartel.

It was Truman, then a peppery senator from Missouri, who first unearthed the carefully-masked connections between the Nazi cartels and some of the big U.S. corporations to trade patents and keep profitable inventions from the American public.

In fact, it was Truman's revelations of these secret deals that put him in the limelight to become vice president and later president.

He exposed the secret deal between Standard Oil of New Jersey and I. G. Farben to keep synthetic rubber patents and synthetic gasoline patents out of the United States. It was because of this deal that the American people walked during the war for lack of tires.

He also publicized the deal to hold down the production of atabrine, plexiglas and magnesium in the United States, and the secret arrangement between Bausch and Lomb in Rochester and Carl Zeiss, the German optical company, by which the Nazis got the blueprints of our artillery range-finders.

One of these deals was that by which I. G. Farben set up its own subsidiary in the United States, General Aniline and Film.

☆ ☆ ☆

Came the end of the war, and the United States signed an agreement with Germany forgiving the Germans all reparations and war claims. It was the most generous treaty ever given a conquered nation, except for that given Japan.

Part of the treaty was that the U.S. government would keep all German property seized in the United States and use it to pay the claims of American citizens against Germany.

However, it was only a few years after the war that the Germans began hiring lobbyists to undercut this treaty and get their property back. They had also executed a neat double-play at the early part of the war by handing part of I. G. Farben over to a Swiss company, Interhandel.

And Interhandel claimed that, since it was a neutral Swiss concern and not a belligerent, it should have General Aniline back or else get paid for it. Instead of fighting the ex-Nazis through to the finish, the Kennedy administration has now compromised. The Kennedy brothers will now pay the Swiss front for the Nazis between $60,000,000 and $100,000,000 when they shouldn't be paying them one red cent.

Senators Russell Long, D-La., and Ken Keating, R.-N.Y., are vigorously opposing the give-away. They argue that foreign cartels cannot operate in the United States and then cloak their operations in Swiss neutrals just when war is about to break.

Harry Truman's investigation showed that they could not. Bobby Kennedy's compromise now shows that they can.

Note — When 2,294 Polish Jews who had suffered torture and slave labor at Auschwitz sued I. G. Farben, in charge of the camp, for damages, a West German court in Frankfurt threw the case out. Reason: the statute of limitations had expired. This was in 1958. But while the statute has expired on human misery in Germany, the statute on property value has not expired in 1963 in the United States under the recent compromise of the Kennedy administration.

☆ ☆ ☆

Maine's demure but decisive Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, reflecting on what Abraham Lincoln would do to soothe public tempers over integration if he were alive today, decided he would make two key appointments to the Supreme Court: Sen. John Stennis, a son of Mississippi, who would bring to the court an understanding of Southern feelings; and Circuit Judge William Hastie, a Negro, who could speak for his race . . . House Banking and Currency Chairman Wright Patman, one of the architects of economic policy in Congress, has warned privately that President Kennedy's tax cut proposals constitute one of the boldest economic gambles in history. Tax reduction could stimulate the economy and produce more jobs, profits, and income, he believes. But if the Federal Reserve Board tightens private credit and checks growth, all the reduction will achieve, he warns, will be a dangerously increased public debt.

Living In Suburbs Soon Develops 'Class' Society

NEW YORK — Everybody says we will come to it, within four or five years—move out of the city and into the suburbs, so our young boy sprout will flourish.

We always say we doubt it. Our youngster likes people, all kinds of people. Rich, poor, Spanish-speaking, dark complexioned, very old and very young. We'd like to keep him that way, rather than tucking him neatly into a station wagon along with a horde of other kids who are exactly like him in color, religion, allowance and, after a time, thinking.

We are unrealistic, our friends say. Children need grass under their feet and trees over their heads, dogs and cats and a view from their bedroom windows. They need fresher air than the city has, birds and ponds and golf courses to be caddies on.

☆ ☆ ☆

This, of course, makes us pause. Our boy lives within ten minutes of Central Park with its grass and trees, playgrounds, merry-go-round and zoo—but it ISN'T quite the same as a backyard and a garage that you can keep rabbits in and fall off the roof of. We had all those things when we were kids and we value them now for the small one.

Our resolve to remain in the city may weaken momentarily, but then we remember: We lived in small cities, rather than in suburbs. There's a great difference. Small cities have all the geological formations of suburbs, but they also have the human variances of race and religion and economics that big cities have.

Suburbs are a wholly new kind of society. Some of them have quiet and fresh air and good schools. But they are also planned little communities—planned to keep people of similar status and interests and income together, while keeping the other guys out. Whether they're low-income housing projects, or middle-class ranch homes, or chi-chi villages, they are by nature a version of "class" society.

And little boys and little girls fall so easily into "classes." They don't have to work or think much. They only have to keep up with the Joneses'—not the Rockefellers. They don't have to give a helping hand to the kid down the street, because the kids down the street has as much money, status, savvy and schooling as they have.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is not as much challenge to a child living in the suburbs. He is sheltered from the knowledge that poor people have a rough time, that minorities are abused and that smart and talented people are worthwhile emulating.

Peter Wyden in his book, "Suburbia's Coddled Kids," told a true story that demonstrates the wall that rises around the suburban child. Wyden, who lived in Highland Park, a Chicago suburb, took his kids to some slums in their new station wagon. Seeing an urchin in the doorway of a tenement, his 10-year-old boy remarked "Look, Daddy—a frontier kid!"

When our boy grows up, we don't want frontier kids to come as a surprise to him. We don't want him to emerge, unknowing, into a world of toil and turmoil. We think he'll be a better citizen if he's made his own choices in friends, if he's had to sympathize with people as well as envy them.

In other words, right now he accepts everybody he sees—and we don't want him to change.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband is recovering from a massive coronary (heart) attack. He is 70 years old. The doctor has ordered among other things "no fried foods." Friends say that in a few months he can eat anything he wants. — Mrs. P. N.

Why do you question your doctor's instructions? Or I might better ask why do you pay any attention to them? This is an old story — friends who butt in with their notions when they don't know what they are talking about.

Dr. Molner

Your doctor may want to reduce your husband's weight, or prevent it from increasing. Excess poundage is a strain on the heart, and after a coronary the wise patient, while he remains as active as conditions permit, does not put any needless burden on the organ. It has been damaged; it still ticks along loyally; but it shouldn't have pointless efforts demanded of it.

Your husband may also have a high cholesterol level. Avoiding fried foods (or animal fats) may prevent further increases in cholesterol.

It is altogether possible that your doctor has detected some indications of gall bladder trouble and is quietly ordering a diet that will avoid unnecessary complications from that source.

These are reasons for such a diet that come to mind readily. Some special circumstances, unknown to me, may be apparent to your doctor.

If I were you I would assume that the dietary restrictions probably will be permanent. I most certainly would not disobey them on the basis of what "friends" say.

If your doctor had intended that in a few months your husband could start eating everything, he doubtless would have said so. If something is temporary, I want the patient to know it. It usually makes him happier about following instructions.

If I intend that some treatment, diet or practice should be permanent, I often remember to tell myself privately that I hope, for the patient's sake, that he doesn't fall for the gabble of "friends" who countermand medical instructions so casually — and thoughtlessly.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can any precautions be taken to avoid diabetes when you know you are susceptible because of several cases in the family in the past?— E. L. G.

Yes. Avoid overweight if you are now normal. If you are overweight, reduce. Get a reasonable amount of exercise. Avoid sugar in the commoner forms — candy, frosted cakes and cookies, sweetened drinks. A blood sugar test, should be taken once or twice a year.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain botulism. Will any certain processes used in home canning prevent it?— Mrs. P. H.

Botulism is an acute and dangerous kind of food poisoning caused by one particular germ called Clostridium botulinum.

Unlike most germs, this is one which does not require air or oxygen for growth — quite the reverse. Hence if it happens to be trapped in an enclosed food container it can continue to multiply.

Proper canning will destroy the germ, and not since the early 1920's has commercially canned food been involved in a case of botulism.

It occasionally still occurs from home canned food, not often perhaps, but it is such a savage type of poisoning that one case is too many.

Usually there are no signs for 18 to 24 hours after eating food contaminated with Clostridium botulinum. Then the sky seems to cave in on the sufferer — first a feeling of extreme tiredness after which the serious symptoms appear: poor eye reflexes, double vision, diarrhea, vomiting, difficulty in swallowing.

Usually more than one person has eaten the contaminated food, so the illness of several at the same time gives a quick and powerful clue.

The best treatment is probably a specific serum to combat the poison, plus other incidental medication aimed at the particular symptoms.

As I said, it's a dangerous disease, and the mortality rate can be as high as 65 per cent, which is frighteningly high.

Prevention can be sure, however. Cooking food for 30 minutes at 176 degrees will kill the toxin and germs.

Dear Dr. Molner: My four-month-old daughter was born with a large red spot on her arm. Our family doctor says it is a collection of tiny blood vessels and will disappear when she is 4 or 5, but it seems to grow bigger and thicker every day. Should I take her to a specialist? Is it possible to have it removed? — Mrs. J. D.

Such a spot is called a hemangioma. I'd gamble that your doctor said it "may" disappear in a few years, because many of them do.

Some don't, but they can be removed surgically, and it's a familiar operation. If the hemangioma continues to grow, consult your doctor so he can send you to a specialist. But don't be panicky. If it needs removal, this can be done.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The Lesson

York, Neb.

What induces men to kill a gentle, harmless, beautiful dove, the symbol of peace? Would not the development of appreciation and love for these birds bring far more joy than killing them? There are many ways of enjoyment without getting it by distressing others. Men in their conceit have assumed the right to destroy their fellow creatures for sport. Were these beautiful birds created to satisfy men's desire to kill?

The people of India have a respect for life which induces them to endure much rather than kill. Is it not possible that they have perceived something of respect for life which we in our arrogance have ignored? We are not ready to refrain entirely from killing animals but we can at least be humble enough to consider their viewpoint and be less free to kill without thinking of mercy to other forms of life.

How many have paused to consider in humility how superior to men in some respects are the birds which can travel without map or compass to their destination over thousands of miles of unknown land and water? All of these living things can teach those who are humble enough to learn. Is there anything in this distracted world which we need to learn more than what the dove can teach of gentleness, peace and love?

Not Happy

Crete, Neb.

An article was recently published concerning Grand Island's barring non-resident pupils. Near the end of the article was another item titled, "Crete Happy." This amused me very much. Just what is there to be so happy about? Supt. John Johnston was quoted as saying: "We got all or parts of 10 districts to join us." He neglected to say that they had an original plan of 27 districts with a valuation of $14,386,179 (according to the Crete News of June 29, 1961) before they decided to close their doors. Their present valuation is only $7,839,254. Is this something to boast about?

I wonder if it makes them happy to see people driving through town, taking their children to another school? They also failed to say that they did not get one single district from Saline County to join them, not even those surrounding the town.

The legal situations they speak of concerning the three "well-to-do districts" were uncalled for and certainly have not made any more friends for them. All this could have been avoided, had it been done properly. Grand Island is giving the people there a year to decide what to do. We had to make that decision a month before school opened.

Anyway, it's nice to hear that somebody is happy about all this.

By Experience

Lincoln, Neb.

The letter-writer, "Voice of Experience," seems to think it is up to our young generation to save us from communism. If they do, they will have to change their ways. They are playing right into the hands of communism when they look at and listen to some of the trashy programs on the air. Anything educational or anything that mentions prayer is out for many of them.

Many of those who were young in the terrible days of the thirties also were living it up, so to speak, but the three years of drought coupled with the depression brought them back to common sense.

Mankind seems to learn only from experience. It is quite possible that we will again learn this lesson, to our sorrow.

DAILY READER

Real Culprit

Lincoln, Neb.

Our legislators are about to examine a bill that proposes to do away with capital punishment — and our capital city is about to try a man for the murder of his wife.

Where were the so-called guardians of the law among the tavern operators who had the opportunity earlier in the evening to turn this man over to the police? Why isn't the real killer, alcohol, brought to justice in this trial?

Can this be the real reason for getting rid of capital punishment? Is our conscience bothering us a little? We should get rid of the killer, alcohol, so that he can't kill someone else.

FRANCIS T. SCHRUNK

Capital Punishment

Lincoln, Neb.

A discussion of LB519 showed that eight states came back to capital punishment. This fact indicates that a law can be ready in case of a mass murderer such as Lincoln had in 1959. People who are for this bill were glad in 1959 that it was not in effect.

I am sure that our senators will show as much good judgment now as was shown in 1949 and 1961, and trust our judges to use the law as the tool it is. A law cannot be made to fit a mass murder case. Inhuman people should not be given a chance to escape, as so often is the case. They may prey upon someone we love next time. B. B. PETERSEN

Parents Are Advised To Nudge Grown Children From The Nest

By ROBERT PETERSON

The emotional problems which ensue when parents live with grown children and their families have been well-documented. But problems also arise from the reverse situation when grown, unmarried children continue to live with their parents.

Letters frequently come to this column from adults in the latter category who have an inflated sense of filial responsibility and feel it's their duty to stay at their parents' side. But somewhere in their letters is generally a word or phrase suggesting that deep in their hearts they wish their parents had long ago booted them from the comforts of the family hearth and forced them into matrimonial channels.

Now that middle age has engulfed them with its diminution of romantic possibilities and the approaching loss of their parents, they are resigned to lonely futures as bachelors and spinsters.

Who's to blame? Many feel the parents are at fault. They may tell friends they wish George or Mary would hurry up and get married. But subconsciously this is the very thing they don't wish to happen for it would deprive them of a dutiful companion.

As a parent myself, it's easy to contemplate the temptation parents may face in wanting to keep a child or two at home to look out for them and offset the spectre of loneliness in later years. But if we are to do right by our offspring we must nudge them from the nest and into fields peopled with marital possibilities so they will have the same opportunities for a home and family life which we enjoyed.

I was shocked when I read a weekly news magazine's rude and supercilious review of the new autobiography by Upton Sinclair.

Having interviewed this venerable author recently, and come away vastly impressed with his kindliness and sensitivity, I cringed at how he might react to the critic's diatribe.

But I needn't have worried, for the review didn't phase this famed author of 90 books. In a letter to the editor of the magazine, Sinclair retorted: "I am 84 years old, have perfect health, a darling new wife aged 80, and a new book that is going all over the world. Half a dozen old books are being reprinted, and Walt Disney is filming one for the children of the world. Tell your sprightly reviewer he may have all the fun he pleases with me."

Many elders need the intellectual challenge of academic studies. But the tuition involved sometimes deters them from going back to school. That's why schools everywhere should be encouraged to reduce tuition rates for older people. Setting an example is Rutgers University in New Jersey. Their normal fee for adult education classes is $35 per course, but they've set a flat fee of only $5 per course for students past 65 years of age.

Fine quote from Henry David Thoreau who passed on a century ago: "I wish to live ever as to derive my satisfaction from the commonest events and every-day phenomena my senses hourly perceive. May my daily walk and conversations with my neighbors inspire me, and may I dream of no heaven but that which lies about me."

'Shelter May Mean Life In An N-Blast'

Chicago (AP)—How could you protect yourself if America ever became the target of large yield nuclear bombs exploded high in the sky?

An expert on fire effects said Wednesday that a simple backyard shelter, some distance from the house and other buildings, could mean the difference between life and death for persons outside the blast area.

Dr. A. Broido, physical chemist with the U.S. Forest Service, Berkeley, Calif., engaged primarily with basic research on the chemistry of fire, said the thermal and fire effects range of giant nuclear bombs exceed the distance range of their blast and fallout effects.

Start Fires

He said the heat from such high altitude explosions could start many simultaneous fires in cities and towns that might develop into the fire storms of the type that caused heavy casualties in basement shelters of multi-storied buildings in Hamburg and other German cities bombed in World War II. The victims were asphyxiated and then cremated.

Writing in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, Broido said official records show that virtually all the 50,000 persons in Hamburg's fire storm area who sought refuge in bunkers, covered trenches and other non-basement shelters survived.

He said there is no evidence to support claims that:

—Persons in yard shelters would suffocate in a mass fire area because all the oxygen would be sucked out.

—The heat from such fire would quickly penetrate a shelter protected by 3 feet of earth overhead.

Broido said turbulent air patterns, with updrafts and downdrafts, cause considerable air mixing at ground level in a raging fire and that any depletion of oxygen would be momentary at worst. He said there is no evidence that anything but a slight drop in air pressure can occur.

He said the chief dangers would be burning and smoldering debris piled high above the shelter and the presence of a high concentration of carbon monoxide during the height of the fire. However, he said, simply closing down the shelter's ventilating system for an hour or so would be the only precaution needed if the area wasn't piled high with smoldering debris.

Broido labeled as a "considerable exaggeration" statements that the situation is hopeless in a fire storm area.

He said persons who hold this view overlook the survival of several hundred persons who bothered to enter their hillside tunnel shelters after the atomic bomb blast at Nagasaki.

Broido added that scores of experienced forest fire fighters have survived in the middle of a roaring forest inferno by protecting themselves in tunnels or caves or even under well soaked blankets in a cleared area.

HOUSE CUTS BUDGET OF POWELL'S COMMITTEE

Washington (AP) — The House pulled tight Wednesday the purse strings of the House Education and Labor Committee headed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

Instead of the $697,000 Powell had sought for the two years of the present Congress, the House voted his committee $200,000 with the implication that if he needs more later for studies and investigations, he will have to justify every additional dollar. Presumably the committee will submit a new budget next year.

Of the $200,000 it approved by voice vote, the House earmarked $25,000 for each of 6 subcommittees the money to be used as directed by the subcommittee chairmen with Powell's endorsement. That left $50,000 for the parent committee to spend under Powell's direction, and Republicans made it clear that they want part of that for minority staff employes.

—WATER HALTS FINMEN—

Ohio Valley Residents Displaced By Flooding

By United Press International

Ice-laden flood waters Wednesday spread misery through 5 Ohio Valley states and threatened lowlands of the Middle Atlantic Seaboard with their heaviest flooding in years.

The worst flood in 30 years isolated the college city of Athens, Ohio. Streams swollen by rains, snow and a March thaw blocked more than 125 roads and highways in Ohio.

Three days of onslaught by high waters left nearly 4,000 persons homeless in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Indiana, and the floods spread to Virginia, South Carolina and Kentucky.

Toll Climbs

The flood toll climbed to 15 when a truck driver drowned in a swollen creek near Seneca, S.C.

A storm dumped 9-inch snows on sections of Wisconsin, built up major traffic snarls in northern Illinois, piled fresh snow on northern sections of the flood belt and pushed a belt of freezing rain ahead of it into the northeast.

Jack-knifed trucks littered highways between Chicago and Milwaukee and Chicago and Springfield, Ill. Chicago police counted more than 120 automobile smash-ups within on hour during the morning rush.

Ambulance Stalls

An ambulance carrying an emergency appendectomy case was stalled for almost two hours in a 20-vehicle traffic jam on Storm King Mountain in New York's Hudson Valley.

The Hocking River cut off Athens from the outside world and forced an estimated 1,000 persons, including 700 Ohio University students, to flee to higher ground. The collegians moved out of two new dormitories.

The Mid-America Conference swimming championships scheduled at Athens were called off. A university spokesman said "the swimmers would have to swim about 5 miles to get here."

U.S. Public Housing Commissioner Marie C. McGuire appealed to housing authorities in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Indiana to open public housing to flood victims. Thousands of persons face dislocation, misery and disease in the 4 states, she said.

Ford, American Motors In Dispute Over Daytona Ads

Detroit (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. and American Motors Corp. have clashed again over speed, horsepower and stock car racing in the auto industry.

AMC Wednesday accused other auto firms of glamorizing speed and horsepower despite a record nationwide traffic toll last year.

Ford Tuesday bragged about its racing triumphs, pointing out that the cars which finished first through 5th at the recent Daytona 500 Mile Race were all Fords.

The Ford ads were scheduled for 2,800 newspapers around the country, the AMC ones in 76 papers in major metropolitan areas. It was understood both series were scheduled last month, with the AMC one designed to counter any promotion of the Daytona race.

Ford's ad, obviously an attempt to use the Daytona race to increase car sales, proclaims that "in the open test that tears them apart, the Daytona 500, Ford durability conquered the field, 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th."

The AMC ad, without mentioning any firm by name, said stock car racing and speed are again being glamorized "despite the fact that last year witnessed the most disasterous toll of traffic fatalities this nation has ever seen."

Another Race

Another horsepower race is starting, AMC said, with "raw horsepower figures and brutal speeds . . . all being pushed into more and more prominence in newspapers and magazines . . ."

But sources at Ford denied its ads glamorized or even mentioned speed and horsepower, noting they emphasized the durability of Ford cars in being able to withstand the punishment inflicted in the 500 mile event.

The controversy really dates back to the 1950's when, under pressure from Congress and the public, the Automobile Manufacturers Association (AMA) passed a resolution against speed and horsepower ads and stock car racing.

Ford withdrew from the agreement last year because it was being frequently violated by auto firms anyway. Ford began to take more of an interest in stock car racing, but refrained from advertising racing victories — until Tuesday.

AMC's position has drawn private criticism from competitors who claim that stock car racing is valuable in learning to build better passenger cars. And a leading racing promoter criticizing AMC's position, noted that its cars are not big enough for such events anyway. (Rules require a 116 inch wheelbase, and the biggest Rambler is 112 inches.)

But AMC counters by claiming it offers "responsive horsepower" with a wide range of engines up to a V-8 with 270 h.p.

And so the controversy continues.

Mexico City (AP) — Daily direct train passenger service between Mexico City and Merida, in the Yucatan Peninsula, will be started March 18, the National Railways says.

'Robinhood' Steals Coal In A Cadillac

Milwaukee (UPI) — "I was just helping the poor people who couldn't buy coal," said Walter R. France, 56, when he pleaded guilty Wednesday before County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr., to stealing coal from the Milwaukee Road yards.

Authorities charged France had used his girl friend's 1961 white Cadillac to steal coal and was fined $50. France claimed his girl friend was one of the poor people.

Police arrested both last night at the Milwaukee Road's 60-ton coal pile. The woman was not charged.

Third Recon Head Saw Just '1 Carton, Catalogs'

Wilson M. Williams of Prairie Hill, Kan., testified Wednesday he saw only "one carton of miscellaneous correspondence and some catalogs" when he took over as president of Third Recon Corp.

Williams testified in a hearing conducted by Clarence A. Davis, trustee for Third Recon, a debtor corporation now undergoing reorganization proceedings in U.S. District Court.

Third Recon is owner of the Crossroads Motor Hotel and Patio Bank drive-in facility at 10th and O.

Williams said he requested Vernon Smith, Crossroads manager, to get the Third Recon records for him from W. D. Ray's office when he took over the corporation.

Earlier, Ray testified "4 or 5 sizeable cartons of records" were given Crossroads bellmen to take to the hotel when the corporation was sold.

Ray was president and sole stockholder of Third Recon until he assigned all outstanding shares to Williams and First National Bank of Kansas City, trustee for the George L. Williams estate, in March 1962.

$517,000 Loan

Williams said he and his father had loaned the corporation some $517,000, which was refinanced in August 1961 as a third mortgage.

In continuing his testimony, Ray agreed that he and the late George Williams had conceived the $1.9 million project with a $600 corporation and a verbal agreement.

He said he and Mr. Williams had been associated in two other building ventures before the latter's death in February 1961.

Ray said the estimate for the Crossroads project was $1,816,168 including land, construction and equipment. He said overall cost of the Crossroads was $1,799,000.

'Unusual' Asked

Asked by Davis if it wasn't unusual that a construction company didn't save copies of change orders, Ray replied:

"It isn't often I build a building as sole stockholder of a corporation and its contractor, too. I didn't save any copies of change orders (by Third Recon) for W. D. Ray & Co."

Attorney Ted Frazier told the hearing he aided in negotiations with Republic National Life Insurance for a $1 million take-out committment under which National Bank of Commerce loaned $800,000 toward the building's construction.

Davis recessed the hearing subject to call. He has indicated the hearing and other proceedings were in anticipation of a plan for the debtor corporation's reorganization.

Brigade Headquarters May Come To Lincoln

Under a revised station plan now before the National Guard Bureau in Washington, Lincoln would be the location of the Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the new Nebraska Army National Guard Brigade.

These units had been slated for Omaha under earlier announced station plans of the reorganization of the Nebraska Army guard.

Nebraska is now part of the 34th Iowa-Nebraska Infantry Division. The state will be reorganized into a separate brigade with a slightly higher troop authorization than now exists.

Same Place

Maj. Gen. Lyle Welch, Nebraska adjutant general, said the National Guard Bureau, now requires that the headquarters and headquarters company be at the same place.

The 34th Division headquarters office and full-time staff of recently retired Maj. Gen. Warren Wood have been located in Lincoln while the Headquarters Company has been in Omaha.

Welch said the change has not yet been given approval by the National Guard Bureau. But he said the change would not affect the number of troops in both cities.

Proximity Cited

One reason given for locating the headquarters ih Lincoln is its proximity to the adjutant general and the state capital.

Under the plan, the major unit in Omaha would be the 1st Infantry Battalion, Welch said. An accompanying change would be to move part of a quartermaster company now split between Lincoln and Fremont from Lincoln to Omaha so the new unit would be divided between Omaha and Fremont.

Welch said troops now assigned to this unit in Lincoln would probably be reassigned to the Headquarters Company, and Omaha troops would probably join the quartermaster unit.

$28,607 Lawsuit Is Filed Against House Of Bauer

Bauer Fine Chocolats, Inc., filed suit against House of Bauer, Inc., and Raymond Bauer in Lancaster District Court asking $28,607 alleged due them under purchase contracts and also rights to copyrights and titles, including "The House of Bauer."

In the suit, Les Rau Jr., an officer of Bauer Fine Chocolats, alleges that Bauer had asked an additional $18,607 for certain merchandise which was included in the sale of Bauer assets for $400,000.

The suit asks the return of the $18,607 paid Bauer, and another $10,000 for stock held by dealers in December but not returned to the new owners of the Bauer firm.

In a second suit, Bauer Fine Chocolats requests the sole rights to the "House of Bauer" title and other trademarks which have been used by the Lincoln candy manufacturing firm for over 30 years.

—PENTAGON PLAN OUT—

Junior ROTC Will Continue

Washington (AP) — The Pentagon, in the face of buzzsaw opposition in Congress, abandoned Wednesday its plan to abolish the High School Reserve Officers Training Corps and indicated instead proposals to expand it are acceptable.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had sought approval from Congress to end support of the program effective July 1, transferring ROTC units to the National Defense Cadet Corps, a program under which the schools bear most of the costs.

Assistant Secretary Norman S. Paul told a House armed services sub-committee of the shift in position after a hint that a fight over junior ROTC could spell trouble for the proposed overhaul of the college ROTC.

'Short-Sighted'

Subcommittee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., who had opposed the cutback since it was first suggested, said it was "sudden, cynical and short-sighted." Since the program is almost 50 years old, he said, "the Army is indeed remarkably slow in becoming aware of its mistakes."

Paul told the subcommittee, after Hebert spoke out, that the Pentagon is interested in a program "that will develop discipline, leadership and physical conditioning of the high school student."

"Assuming that the Congress believes that these activities are important to the national interest," Paul said, "we support in principle a continuation of some form of this program, and its expansion to include other schools."

Criticizes

Hebert opened hearings on proposals to overhaul the ROTC program with a statement strongly criticizing the Defense Department. He said the cutback proposal "was prompted by a misguided sense of economy."

Hebert said the Army apparently decided the junior program was not justified because the young men who take it are not commissioned or recruited directly into service.

Hebert has introduced a bill to make junior ROTC, now offered by 255 high schools, available to up to 2,000. It also would have all 3 services offer junior ROTC courses.

Bar Sign Ups

Hebert said the Army hasn't allowed any schools to sign up for junior ROTC since 1947, although some 500 have applied.

He said the expansion bill is backed by Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee, and Rep. William G. Bray, R-Ind., ranking Republican on Hebert's subcommittee.

While he agreed to continuation of junior ROTC, Paul cautioned: "A substantial increase in the present program could involve excessive costs in terms of military personnel and funds." He called for a thorough study of junior ROTC, based on a Pentagon survey of a cross-section of high schools.

Sets Date

Hebert said he wants the ROTC overhaul in effect by next March 1, to give schools and colleges time to plan for their 1964-65 academic years.

Undersecretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay said he favors programs aimed at developing discipline and physical fitness. But he added that Navy participation in junior ROTC would "naturally place a drain on our manpower supply and tend to reduce our military effectiveness."

Hebert snapped back that Fay should consider "not only what was good for the Navy, but what's good for the country."

Fay replied that if the expanded plan can be put into effect without harming military posture, the Navy would be 100% behind it.

Vietnamese Navy Takes Over Coastal Patrol

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—The young Vietnamese navy has taken over patrol of South Viet Nam's coast from the U.S. 7th Fleet, military sources said Wednesday.

Vietnamese radar stations have been established along the shore and 30 destroyer-type patrol vessels stand guard against reinforcement by sea of the Communist guerrillas waging war against President Ngo Dinh Diem's American-backed government.

The 7th Fleet is surrendering routine work to South Viet Nam, the military sources said. But units will continue to be available to rush to its assistance if neighboring Communist powers threaten Vietnamese security. Red neighbors on the South China Sea are China and North Viet Nam.

The main job of the 7th Fleet, the most powerful Naval grouping in the Far East since World War II, is to patrol the seas adjacent to Red China and the Soviet Union on watch for any suspicious movement. Fleet units include nuclear submarines.

American aid has been poured for a year into a project to give Viet Nam an effective mobile water force, inland and at sea. The patrol fleet is one product of this project.

Over all aid to Viet Nam in the last 7 years amounted to $2 billion, a U.S. Senate committee reported recently.

In the Mekong Delta, with its 2,500 miles of internal waterways, big LSTs (landing ship, tanks) of the Vietnamese navy churn along canals and rivers, landing Marines in areas unreachable by land or air.

German Cost To Up If They Join N-Force

Bonn, Germany (AP) — Livingston T. Merchant explained to West Germans Wednesday they will have to spend well beyond their present plans if they want to buy into a Western seafaring nuclear force. Some estimate the increase at $1 billion.

President Kennedy's special envoy talked over csots and related problems of a proposed Polaris-armed surface fleet with Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel and with Karl Carstens, a top aide of Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, who is on vacation.

The project, which Bonn officials approve in principle, would give West Germany its first say in the use of atomic weapons.

Merchant expects to see Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Friday.

U.S. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, discussed Western defense problems with Adenauer Wednesday.

In the American view, the problem is getting the European allies to fork over more of their growing wealth for non-nuclear arms. If they buy them in the United States, so much the better.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the two visits were a coincidence.

Committee Axes Wage Dispute Bill

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

A bill which would have established procedure for determination of wage disputes involving less than $200 by the state labor commissioner was killed by a 4-1 vote of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee Wednesday.

The measure, LB402, introduced by Sens. Dale Payne of Papillion and Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, was requested by the State Labor Department.

In other action, the committee voted 6-0 to advance LB 422, introduced by Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha, which would make it unlawful to require an applicant for employment to pay the cost of a medical examination as a condition of employment.

Another Advanced

Also amended and advanced by a 6-0 vote was LB 700, introduced by Sens. Don McGinley of Ogallala and George Fleming of Sidney, which would require railroads to add generator type electric lights to track motor cars.

The committee also amended and advanced LB352, heard previously, which orders the director of public welfare to set up rules and regulations establishing maximum payments for all health services, except hospitals, to recipients of public assistance.

Hospitals had been included in the bill originally, but its introducer, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, said representatives of the hospitals did not want to be included in the measure, so he offered the amendment striking them from the bill's provisions.

The first of the measures heard Wednesday, LB402, attracted strong support from various labor groups, but drew heavy opposition from representatives of business interests.

Proponents of the measure said it was necessary to establish formal procedure under which the labor commissioner could process claims from small wage earners when the amount involved was "too little" to be handled by attorneys.

Opponents of the bill described the measure as one which "would wedge a crack in the wall which might lead to collective bargaining" under the labor commissioner.

'Lengthen Process'

They also termed the measure one which would "lengthen the process of justice," and said it could be used to "hamstring business and industry."

LB700, the bill relating to track motor cars, was originally drawn to require that generator type electric lights be permanently attached to the cars, and that they also be equipped with electric windshield wipers, and canopies to protect the railroad workers from the weather.

Sen. McGinley said employes of the railroad were "conscientiously concerned" about the need for the additional equipment as a safety factor, not only for themselves, but also for the traveling public in relation to railroad crossings.

Representatives of railroad management opposed the measure on grounds that the motor cars were becoming obsolete and that the equipment requested was too costly.

Fire Withdrawals Advanced

. . . RURAL AND SUBURBAN DISTRICTS

A bill permitting withdrawal from a rural or suburban fire protection district was advanced 6-0 by the Government and Military Affairs Committee Wednesday.

Under LB219, 10% of the voters in the area that wants to withdraw could petition the district board. The board, if it found the district would still be left with $1 million valuation, could submit the proposed withdrawal to the voters in the district.

Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington, an introducer, said it was merely a means of adjusting districts. Jack Pace of Lincoln, general counsel for Farmers Mutual Insurance Co. of Nebraska, noted the measure would provide for liquidation of indebtedness.

Support came also from Richard Goodding of the Nebraska Farm Bureau and State Fire Marshal Joseph Divis.

The committee amended the bill as suggested by Assistant Omaha City Attorney Frederick Brown to avoid a possible conflict with annexation laws.

In conjunction with this, the committee killed 4-2 a previously heard bill, LB86, which would have provided for automatic removal of land annexed from a suburban or rural fire district by a municipality.

LB86 was sponsored by Omaha Sens. George Syas and William Moulton.

A bill previously killed, LB196, was reconsidered and held by the committee. The measure sponsored by Sen. M. M. Forrester of Anselmo would permit political subdivisions of the state to join with one another for the purchase and operation of machinery.

It will be considered again along with several other similar measures including LB505, which was heard and held Wednesday. That measure would permit first and second class cities and villages to join together for general governmental functions.

The committee also advanced LB204 and held LB520 followng hearings.

LB204 would include sanitary sewer systems with other utilities for which combined revenue bonds can be issued.

Vern Livingston, manager of the Nebraska City utilities, and Nebraska City Mayor Bill Dawson appeared for the measure introduced by Sen. William Brandt of Unadilla.

LB520 would allow Grand Island to elect councilmen by wards under a city manager form of government.

NSIA Says 2 Bills Wouldn't 'Freeze' Shuffling Schools

The Nebraska School Improvement Association said Wednesday LB261 and LB597 are not an attempt to "freeze" school district reorganization in Nebraska.

The NSIA said that Frank Heinisch used the word "freeze" Tuesday to "give a derogatory connotation to Class 6 type reorganization. The truth is to the contrary. Actually, these bills give the same legal stability to Class 6 districts that other districts now enjoy."

A Class 6 district is a district only made up of at least 4 elementary rural school districts.

Heinisch is a member of the State Board of Educaation. He said Tuesday he does not believe that Class 6 districts "generally lead to quality education. There are exceptions . . ."

Outlawing Poll Tax Goes To Floor

A bill providing for ratification of a U.S. Constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax as a qualification for voting was advanced unanimously to the floor Wednesday by the Legislature's Miscellaneous Subjects Committee.

Those speaking in favor of the measure, LB449, included Mrs. Hugh Bullock, Lincoln president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; the Rev. Fred Register, president of the Nebraska Council of Churches; Dr. Richard Gilbert, president of the Action Coordinating Team for race relations, and Mrs. John B. White, Lincoln YWCA board.

Dr. Gilbert told the committee that in practice the poll tax is unfair. "It has become an indirect instrument to disenfranchise the Negro from voting," he declared.

He noted that Nebraska does not have a poll tax.

In other action the committee killed LB514, redefining terms in motor fuel tax laws. The matter is covered in another bill.

Constitutional Objections To Be Cut From Aid Bill

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Wednesday agreed to introduce a new bill which would remove constitutional objections to LB71.

Already passed by the Legislature and approved by the governor, LB71 establishes a policy of state aid to local watershed districts for purchase of land easements and rights-of-way.

However, Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth told the committee, he has received an attorney general's opinion declaring that a portion of the bill is unconstitutional.

The questionable section provides that any expenditure of state funds must be approved by the Legislative Council's 4-member executive board.

The committee's new bill will remove the objectionable language by providing that expenditure be made "with the advice" of the executive board.

The measure does not provide any appropriation.

State Soil and Water Conservation Commission officials expect to ask the Budget Committee to recommend an appropriation of some $250,000 in state funds to initiate the program.

Oldest Scot Rail Commuter Dies

Cambusland, Scotland (UPI) — James Wylie, 85, Scotland's oldest railway commuter, died Wednesday — less than a month after British railways gave him a year's season ticket.

"We are extremely sorry to hear of his death," a railways spokesman said, "and regret he had so little use of the season ticket."

It was about this winey California valley that Robert Louis Stevenson wrote "Silverado Squatters."

Robert was a great correspondent. He wrote many letters. Corresponded with friends and people he met all over world. He wrote in longhand. And, when he was writing a book, he made his family sit down each evening and listen while he read it aloud.

This is not only genius. It shows determination.

☆ ☆ ☆

Have been trying to answer my piled-up mail but find I am a sloth.

"Please contact the undersigned regarding the above described vehicle . . ."

This refers to The Littlest Austin.

I bought this bundle of British dynamite—well, it IS explosive on a level road—in England.

The entrance requirements for a British car passeth all understanding. Entering the Most Populous State of the Union.

I gather that I have filled in the wrong forms for the Department of Motor Vehicles.

☆ ☆ ☆

Now if I answer this letter, it will bring more letters. "Referring to yours of the umpteenth instant . . ."

I will then have to explain that I gave the British license to the London County Council. There will be no end to correspondence.

If I do NOT answer, the Motor Vehicles people will put me in stony-lonesome until I am good and sorry.

Such letters were meat to Robert Louis, I imagine. There are books of his letters. His wife Fanny, wrote a diary that has become a book.

Robert Louis did not hesitate to describe all his adventures.

Once he was waling in the pine hills back of Monterey, California.

He wondered what would happen if you touched a match to the hanging Spanish moss. It started a tremendours forest fire. The locals were looking for the person who did it with a rope.

"I ran like hell," Robert reported to friends in Scotland.

He had chest trouble and spent a lot of time drinking brandy in a saloon in back of Alvarado street.

I wish I knew what brand he drank.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Correspondences are like smallclothes before the invention of suspenders: it is possible to keep them up."

So wrote Sydney Smith in a letter to Mrs. Crowe on January 31, 1841. I do not know who Sydney was. But suspect he was troubled as I am by the morning mail.

In the growing mass in the folder marked "Urgent"—.

"Hey! I will be in town next weekend and let's . . ."

"Can we get together at lunch to discuss . . ."

"I think we have a great opportunity to . . ."

"Aunt Mabel wonders if it would be too much trouble to . . ."

"Perhaps you have overlooked this account in the sum of . . ."

"Dear Daddy: I need $5 for . . ."

☆ ☆ ☆

This would have furnished Robert Louis fodder for many a quill pen hour, I don't wonder. I cannot lay pinky to the typewriter on such stuff without groaning.

I figure only a genius wraps up his mail rapidly. Talent is when you avoid it.

Devils Nest Developers Incorporate

Devils Nest Development Co., with authorized capitalization of $1.5 million, filed articles of incorporation Wednesday with the secretary of state.

The articles were filed by attorney Robert C. Guenzel of Lincoln, company secretary-treasurer, who said the capitalization is for the "initial phase of development" of a multimillion-dollar resort area bordering Lewis and Clark Lake in northeast Nebraska.

Several corporate entities may be formed later as facilities are added, Guenzel noted.

Don E. Dixon of Lincoln, company president, said a multimillion-dollar hotel planned for the area will be financed in a separate corporation.

May Up Capital

Dixon said also that as the resort area expands the Devils Nest Development Co. may amend its articles to increase the capitalization.

Work will begin this spring on establishing roads and bringing in utilities, Dixon said.

"The only change from our original plans for the project is to consider possible expansion to include housing for semipermanent guests," Dixon said.

Wintry Clime Nearly Stops Outside Work

Nebraska's severe winter weather brought outside work nearly to a standstill, intensifying the usual seasonal loss in employment in January, according to a report by the Nebraska Labor Department's employment division.

Lincoln metropolitan area employment suffered a setback of 1,850 during January, from December, due largely to the normal post-holiday reductions in retail trade as well as winter's toll in the construction field.

A sharp drop of 950 workers on Lincoln's retail trade scene was brought about by the passing of the holiday season. Government, with an increase of 100 workers during the month, was the only segment to show a gain in the 30-day period.

State employment in January was estimated to be 560,500, or 20,600 below December's level, representing a 3.5% loss for the month.

Lincoln's unemployment climbed by 400 during January to a total of 1,750, while agricultural forces decreased an additional 100 during the same period.

On the state level, nonfarm employment declined by 14,600, representing a decrease of 3.2%. January 1963 showed total employment of 6,100 below the same month the previous year.

Strontium 90 Up

London (UPI) — The level of Strontium 90 in British milk in the year ending September, 1962, was 60% higher than the previous year, the Agricultural Research Council said.

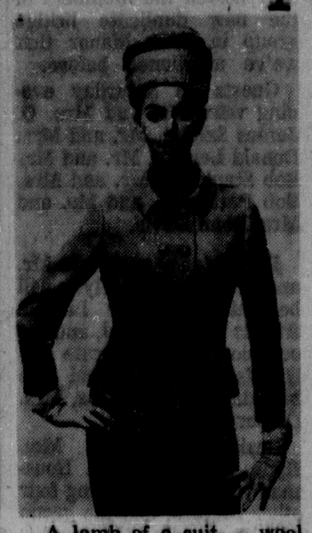
Suit-Able For Spring

The elegant look for luncheon — canapes, or theater may be yours if you are a fashion-smart girl and choose this suit with its exceedingly flattering neckline. The fabric is a pure silk plisse from Italy.

As delicate in color as the first crocus is this pale tweed suit. It has cord trimming, and naturally it will give you the perfect fit.



A lamb of a suit — wool, of course. It is particularly fetching because of its double march of buttons, a charming collar, and that ever-so-gently shaped and shirred peplum.

When spring finally blends into summer be beautiful —and O, so young when you step out in this suit that is fashioned of a Swiss synthetic fabric. Please note — the new, cuffed shirt sleeves.

Ladies-In-Waiting

It is easy to learn how to succeed in fashion without really trying — All you have to do is depend upon a cool, carefree costume made by one of the master suit craftsman. This suit has a linen look, and its own contrasting blouse and belt.

Even if the special event won't be announced with blaring headlines, the proud "author" will happily herald the news in her bouffant checked silk organza. Tucked under the crisp "button-off" white arnel collar is a generous bow with long streamers that give added dash to the dress.

The fluid, unbroken line of the shift, borrowed from the most advanced of the current Paris collections, has been created for the expectant mother. Here, the supple silhouette is a golden shift of silk and rayon. Adding a soft touch of elegance to the cowl neckline — a graceful flowing scarf.

"I love Paris in the springtime" — and so forth, is fine for the gal who can hop aboard an airliner — and voila! But you can have that Paris-in-springtime feeling right here at home if, that is, you wear this Chanel inspired wool costume suit.

Dear Abby

If It Is Thought She Wants—Think It Over

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just got out of Law School, passed the State Bar examination and am working for a collection agency. My girl has been after me to buy her an engagement ring. Abby, I told this girl that as far as I am concerned we are officially engaged and I will marry her as soon as I can afford it, but I don't have the money to buy her even the tiniest diamond now. She says it is not the size of the diamond that counts, it's the thought. What should I do?

STRUGGLING LAWYER

DEAR STRUGGLING: If it's the THOUGHT . . . tell her you'll THINK about it.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may not seem very serious but it means a lot to me. I like two boys very much and I have to make a choice. One is an usher. He is real neat but he doesn't look so hot out of his suit. I can't explain it, but I seem to like the usher more when he is working and has that suit on. The other boy looks good to me all the time. Which one should I choose?

TEEN TROUBLE

DEAR TEEN: If you like the usher better in his "suit" —the other boy probably suits you better. You have a touch of uniform-fever, not uncommon in girls your age.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

PARK MANOR

What's new in Suburbia besides more winter weather, colds, and flu? Surprisingly enough, there's plenty going on in Park Manor and, if anything, the neighborhood seems even a little busier than usual! (If that is possible.)

It seems that the Park Manor residents are just a little like the reliable mailmen—neither rain, nor sleet, nor snow, nor flu can keep the social activity at an ebb.

"Comings and goings" are of particular importance and interest in the neighborhood this week, for we can tell you of all sorts of vacations just completed, and of more which soon will begin.

Returning this Tuesday were Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Falos and their daughter, Diane, who spent nearly two weeks "south of the border."

The Park Manor residents flew to Acapulco on Feb. 21, where they spent several days in the Mexican sunshine, and also visited Mexico City before returning to Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Falos will be re-packing their bags soon, for they are scheduled to leave on Sunday for more southern sunshine via the atmosphere of New Orleans, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Falos will make the trip south by car, and they will be accompanied by a Grand Island couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bochart. The Nebraska foursome is journeying to New Orleans for a grain dealers convention, and they plan to stay a week.

More "returnees" last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Callaway, who are back in town after vacationing in Phoenix, Ariz. They arrived in Park Manor on Friday, after a two weeks holiday.

During their southwestern vacation, Mr. and Mrs. Callaway visited former Park Manor residents in Indio, Calif.—was Mr. and Mrs. Ken Delp who moved to Indio two years ago.

And vacationing in Huntington, W.Va., this month are Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Eddins and their son, Stuart Jr. These Park Manor residents left Lincoln last Saturday, and will be spending two weeks in Huntington.

During their visit they are being hosted by each of Mr. and Mrs. Eddins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Eddins, and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Mobayed.

Dinner and pinochle hosts last Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Don L. Tangeman, who entertained members of their monthly couples dinner-and-pinochle club.

Regular members attending this month's gathering at the Tangeman home were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wittman, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stranathan, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Merry.

And as usual, card games seem to be very popular, for a bridge hostess on Thursday evening was Mrs. Clayton Yeutter, and again, the guests were the regular members of a monthly neighborhood group.

This time, however, it was bridge and dessert that made a fun evening for Mrs. Bob Diers, Mrs. Arlan Beam, Mrs. Merrill Rose, Mrs. Don Hamilton, Mrs. Guy Holliday, Mrs. Bill Stukas, and Mrs. Joseph Krause.

Mr. Yeutter joined his wife in the hosting role on Saturday evening, and together they hosted the members of the new duplicate bridge group in Park Manor that we've mentioned before.

Guests on Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. O. James Sandin, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Leising, Mr. and Mrs Bob Stapleton, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Patterson, and Mr. and Mrs. Donn Davis.

Park Manor residents Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Hyde will be entertained by Lincoln friends this weekend, and the occasion is to celebrate Mr. Hyde's birthday, and the birthday of his hostess, Mrs. Delbert Housman.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. Housman will be entertaining four other couples, and the group will be spending the evening with cards and, of course, celebrating the two birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swett are to host their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. O. James Sandin, this weekend at an evening get-together on Saturday. We understand it will be a casual evening of informal entertainment for the two Park Manor neighbors.

Fashions Benefit Small-Fry

Fashions to benefit a group of small-fry added a touch of spring to the ballroom of the Lincoln Hotel on Wednesday afternoon when the members of the Junior Woman's Club of Lincoln entertained at luncheon and a style show.

Proceeds from the event will be used to purchase a record player and other equipment and toys for the under-five-year-old patients at the Orthopedic Hospital who have been "adopted" by the club.

Club members who served as fashion models included (from the left) Mrs. Wendell Mayfield, Mrs. Dick Chapin, Mrs. Gil Deitemeyer, Mrs. Gail McKie, Mrs. Gay Cole, Mrs. Norman Hoelk and Mrs. Atlee Stephan. Others modeling were Mrs. Robert Wise, club president, Mrs. Emery Nelson, and Mrs. Kenneth Pohlman.

Opening lead—four of diamonds.

The subtleties of defense available to a pair in tune with one another sometimes convert impending defeat into victory. The messages openly exchanged between a good defensive pair need only to be correctly understood for the best result to be achieved.

For example, look at this hand played in a team match. At the first table, nothing much happened. South got to four spades on the bidding shown and West led a diamond. East took the king and continued with the ace. Declarer ruffed, led a trump, and eventually lost a club to make exactly four spades.

At the second table, the same contract was reached on similar bidding, but here the defense functioned more correctly and South went down one.

West led the four of diamonds, just as at the first table, and East won with the king. But the East at this table did not continue the suit. He realized from the bidding and the opening lead that South had almost surely started with a singleton diamond.

There being no future to another diamond lead, he shifted to the ace of clubs, at trick two. He hoped to at trick two. He hoped to find West with the king of clubs, in which case he planned to lead another club and obtain a ruff to defeat the contract.

West didn't have the king and might have played the deuce on the ace to deny it, but he did have the ace of spades which his partner knew nothing about. Since he realized that East was trying to get a club ruff, he played the nine on the ace, asking for another club lead.

East happily obliged, and though he was temporarily disappointed when declarer showed up with the king, this did not prevent him from getting his club ruff a short time later when declarer led a trump. West took the ace and returned a club and South went down one as a result of the fine defense.

Sooners First Again

Oklahoma not only returned to the Big 8 throne in football—and plans on winning the swim crown for the 10th consecutive year—the Sooners have gained undisputed first place in loop student manager competition.

In fact, there's no one else in the race. Sorry, fellows, but that's the way it is—Dee Albrecht of Oklahoma is "Big 8 Student Manager of the Year."

The reason Dee wins by acclamation is simple—"Dee" is short for Dorothy, and Dorothy Albrecht is a girl. She is also the official student manager of the Oklahoma swimming team, which starts defense of its title at the NU Coliseum and the PSAB pool today.

Miss Albrecht is a cute, 18-year-old freshman who became a student manager—first in the school's history, and probably the Big 8, too—quite by chance.

Her explanation: "I was dating Johnny Vernon, a swimmer, and he took me to a movie. We sat with the swimming squad which went stag. They were kidding me about the coach needing a student manager and why didn't I apply.

"I said sure. Big joke. They asked the coach (Jay Markley) and before I knew it, he offered me the job."

Hard Worker

Coach Markley hasn't regretted offering the job to Dee, either.

"Everything she does, she does well," Markley said. "She keeps all our workout records, charts our opponents' best times on the blackboard, issues sweat shirts on the day of the meet, winds the stopwatches, finds the clipboards, checks the starting pistol—and many other things."

Sooner publicist Harold Keith reports that appointment of a girl student manager isn't the only tradition that has been shattered at the OU pool.

Keith says Sooner swimmers have stopped shedding their clothing as they burst through the front door on their way to the dressing room.

Dee is a native of Des Peres, Mo., who wound up at Oklahoma because "OU has an accredited school in my major, physical therapy. Also, I thought it might be fun to meet new people. All my friends go to Missouri or Kansas."

Hard work isn't new for Dee, either. In addition to carrying 17 hours of school work, she has a research job with a zoology professor, is teaching Markley's 4-year-old daughter to swim on Sundays and has just pledged a sorority. In the summer she teaches swimming and sailing at Camp Lakewood near Potosi, Mo.

Some Problems

There are problems connected with being a girl student manager for a boys' swimming team, Dee confesses.

"It's difficult being one of the guys and a girl at the same time," she said. "Every once in a while they throw me."

But the pert Sooner-ette is happy in her work, make no mistake about that.

"It's kinda nice having 35 brothers," she admits. "Boys are fun—I'm getting a liberal education."

All of which adds up to this: you're not seeing things if you see a girl acting like the Oklahoma student manager at the Big 8 swimming championships.

You'll be seeing Miss Dorothy (Dee) Albrecht—Big 8 Student Manager of the Year, that is.

GAL IN SPORTS . . . OU's Dee Albrecht with swimmer Charley Schuette.

Defending Champs Squeeze By LSE

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

The king ain't dead . . . but he sure seemed so for awhile before a hectic, hectic climax.

Defending state high school Class A basketball champion Lincoln Northeast surged past Southeast 54-51 in its first step in defense of the coveted crown during Wednesday's first round action of the Pershing Auditorium Class A district.

Tourney favorite Lincoln High was the other winner, 62-54 over Pius X, before 5,000 fans.

Northeast overcame a 7-point Southeast lead in the final quarter, achieving the victory through a successful press and a pair of Southeast technical fouls.

The last two minutes of the game were filled with rhubarbs.

The belabored action began at 1:49 when Southeast's Mike Jennings was booted out of the game for slamming Northeast sub Larry Hubka.

Referees Max Kellough and Rex Bulwan signaled a flagrant foul on Jennings, which sent Hubka to the free throw line with two shots in a technical foul situation.

He missed both and Southeast maintained its 50-48 advantage. But Northeast took the ball out of bounds and senior Stan Grell drove to the bucket like a fullback (that he is) for a game-tying lay up.

Then Dennis Miller of Southeast canned a free throw and Southeast had a 51-50 lead at 1:27.

After a missed free throw by each team, Northeast regained control and Chuck Turek sank a 20-foot two-hand set shot for a 52-51 Northeast lead.

Twenty-four seconds remained.

Southeast hurried down but lost the ball out of bounds under their own basket. On the throw-in for NE, Turek ran along the baseline to get the ball free. That is now a violation and the ball went to Southeast.

SE called time out.

But the Knights of Bob Lohrberg had already used up their quota and a technical foul was assessed. Seven seconds were left. Art Scott missed the gift but Gary Thompson sank two free throws at two seconds after the throw-in.

Following the technical and flagrant foul calls, Lohrberg and his players had lengthy discussion with the officials.

Junior Steve Bock had pepped the Knights to their spurt to a 7-point lead just after the last period started.

It was the widest gap of the game as both clubs fought gamely for the win. Southeast lost its composure to NE's press just long enough for the Rockets to catch up.

Bock had 12 points. Northeast's scoring punch was carried by Grell with 16, soph Gary Thompson with 12 and Jerry Motz at 11.

Grell scored 7 of Northeast's 9 first quarter points.

But it was Turek's two-handed set with 24 seconds left that carried the biggest wallop, however.

Lincoln High's victory was determined over a short period of time, too. But it came in 21 seconds of the 3rd period when the Links scored 7 points to move to a commanding advantage.

Lincoln led most of the way but Pius, suffering from a cold first half, were in contention until Bobby Vasatka sent the Links to that spurt and a 39-24 lead.

Coach Alden Johnson's club had its biggest lead 51-33 early in the final stanza.

Vasatka, a speedy, deadeye junior, was the night's top scorer with 22 points. Tom McGovern (14) and soph Dayle Churchill (13) led Pius.

Northeast and Lincoln High will meet Friday for the local championship. Game time at Pershing will be 7:30 p.m.

Big 8 Swim Meet Opens Today In Lincoln

. . . ACTION WILL BE SPLIT BETWEEN TWO SITES

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Some of the finest swimmers in the nation will gather in Lincoln today for the opening of the 32nd annual Big 8 Conference swimming and diving championships.

Activities in the huge water spectacular will be split this year, with the diving events run off at the University of Nebraska's Coliseum pool and the racing events slated at the Public Schools Activities Buidling pool.

First event of the day is set for 10 a.m., when the one-meter diving preliminaries and semifinals get under way at the Coliseum. Finals in this event are set for 5:30 p.m.

Racing action at PSAB commences at 2:15 p.m., with time trials in the 500-yard free style.

Other Events

Other events on the afternoon racing card are the 400-yard individual medley, 50-yard free style and 400-yard medley relay.

Finals in all these events will be held during the night session at PSAB, starting at 8 p.m.

On Friday there will be preliminaries and finals in the 200-yard butterfly, 200-yard backstroke, 200-yard breaststroke, 200-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley.

Saturday's program will include prelims and finals in 3-meter diving, 100-yard freestyle, 100-yard backstoke, 100-yard breaststroke, 100-yard butterfly, 400-yard free style relay and 1,650-yard freestyle.

New events on the Big 8 program this year are the 1,650-yard freestyle, 200-yard freestyle and 500-yard freestyle.

Oklahoma Favored

Oklahoma once again will be favored to win the team championship, the Sooners have annexed for 9 consecutive years. Not since Iowa State took the title in 1954—after the Sooners had won in 1952 and 1953—has Oklahoma been bumped from the throne room.

Prior to 1950, when the Sooners won, Big 8 swimming honors were the exclusive property of Iowa State and Nebraska. The Cornhuskers won titles in 1930, 1935 and 1937 and shared the crown with the Cyclones in 1933 and 1936. But from 1938 through 1949, Iowa State was kingpin—then came the Oklahoma era which is still flourishing.

However, this year the Sooners may be in for a stiff fight from the Cyclones and the Huskers.

In pre-Big 8 action, Oklahoma defeated Nebraska in a dual, but lost to Iowa State—and the Cyclones would have been beaten by NU last week, if the exhuberant Scarlets had waited a little longer to launch their pool-jumping celebration.

OU will be led by Charles Schuette, who won 3 events last year (1,500-meter, 220 and 440-yard freestyles). This year Schuette is expected to compete in the 500, 200 and either the 100 or 1,650-yard freestyles, events in which he has already established 3 school records.

Iowa State has defending 1 and 3-meter diving champion Fritz Hagen back, along with such standouts as Rol Wellman, Art Paterson, Dan McQuillen, Bud Pierce and Jim Ruggles.

Nebraska's hopes will rest upon squad depth, but Coach Cal Bentz had a number of individuals who are top threats.

Senior co-captain Vern Bauers of York last week whipped defending Big 8 champion Bill Murdock of Kansas in the 200-yard breaststroke.

And the Scarlet medley relay team of Bill Henry, Bauers, Bill Fowles and Phil Swaim is unbeaten to date against Big 8 swimmers and last week fashioned a 3:50.3 against the Cyclones and Jayhawks.

Other Huskers who should produce points are freestylers Keefe Lodwig, Swaim and Jeff Amsler.

Kansas, runnerup to Oklahoma last year, will have Mike Colwell — he has won the 500-yard freestyle twice against NU this season—heading its delegation.

Colorado and Kansas State will be the other two loop clubs in the title chase. Missouri and Oklahoma State do not have swimming teams.

One of the KU entrants is Ron Marsh, the football player and heavyweight boxer, who is competing in the Chicago Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

Officials for the meet are Wendell Groth, director; Kenneth Treadway, referee; and Max Polsky, starter.

Cooper Wins Heavy Crown

Chicago (UPI) — Sgt. Harley Cooper Wednesday night slugged his way to amateur boxing's highest prize — the heavyweight Golden Gloves title—by winning over James Taylor, Hollywood, Calif.

Cooper, whose trademark is battering opponents from pillar to post, showed that he could field a punch as well as give one. In the second round he caught a haymaker that buckled his knees.

But he refused to fall and went on to capture the win.

The 28-year-old Air Force heavyweight won a semifinals 3-round decision over Ronald Marsh.

Charlton Heads All-Big 8 Team

. . . NAMED BY UPI

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — Limping Ken Charlton of the University of Colorado heads the 1963 United Press International All-Big 8 Conference basketball team.

The 6-foot-6 Charlton, who is averaging 19.4 points per game despite two ailing knees, was an almost unanimous choice for player of the year in a poll of sportswriters and sportscasters throughout the conference.

Coach Henry (Hank) Iba, now in his 29th year at Oklahoma State, was named coach of the year. His teams have compiled a 673-218 won-loss record, including a 16-8 mark this season.

Other members of the UPI All-Big 8 team are Willie Murrell of Kansas State, Jim Davis of Colorado, Nolen Ellison of Kansas and Larry Hawk of Oklahoma State.

Charlton, who underwent surgery last spring for an injured knee after leading Colorado to the 1962 championship, injured the other knee this season. However, he still tops Colorado in scoring with a 19.4 average for the season, highest on the all-star team. The blond senior also is the only repeat from last year's UPI all-conference first team.

Murrell, 6-foot-6 junior is Kansas State's leading scorer with an 18.5 average. Kansas State, with a one-game conference lead meets Colorado Saturday night to end the season.

The 6-foot-8 Davis, tallest man on the team and one of the conference's top rebounders, owns a 13-point per game average. He is a junior.

Two flashy guards, Ellison, 6-1 senior, and Hawk, 6-2 sophomore round out the first team. Both are key men for their teams. Ellison has avaged 16 points a game and Hawk has hit for 13 per game.

Members of the second team include Vince Brewer, a first team selection last year, and Marv Straw, both Iowa State seniors; senior Gary Marriott, Kansas State; 5-foot-9 Eddie Evans of Oklahoma, a senior; and George Unseld, 6-foot-7 Kansas sophomore.

The teams:

Jim Davis	Colorado
Nolen Ellison	Kansas
Larry Hawk	Oklahoma State

Milford 'D' Playoff Set

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Milford —Beaver Crossing was as hot as Polk was cold Wednesday night.

However, both teams gained passage to the Class D regional finals here.

In the crowd pleaser Beaver Crossing exploded, sinking Elmwood 88-60.

Larry Stutzman, a 6-foot smoothie, scorched the nets for 28 points. The Beaver Crossing forward also dealt the losers fits on defense.

Coach Larry Buhl's cagers hit 11 of the first 14 field goal attempts, jumping to a 47-28 halftime lead.

Elmwood's only bright spot was Clayton Miller, a 5-9 guard, who hit 16 points from way out.

The defending Class D champ, Polk, had little trouble in the opener with Hickman, 44-33.

It took the winners 3 minutes to score in a game which offered few exciting moments.

Assuring coach Jim Karloff's team a final berth was dependable Max Kroger, who bucketed 17 points. As usual the big center was undisputed under the boards.

The Beaver Crossing-Polk showdown will come Thursday night at 7:30. Another full house of 1,200 is expected.

University High, Falls City Advance To District Finals

. . . TUTORS SMASH AUBURN, 75-38

University High of Lincoln and Falls City will battle at Wesleyan's gym tonight in quest of one of the first state basketball tournament berths to go up for grabs.

The two ranked quintets will square off in the Class B District tourney finals at 8 p.m.

The two took opposite routes to get to their showdown. Falls City had to scramble in the last minute to down stubborn Plattsmouth, 43-41, while University High tromped Auburn, 75-38.

University High 75 Auburn 38

The tall and talented Tutors of coach Dale Snook appeared to be rolling at top speed Wednesday as they picked up their second easy win of the meet.

Auburn was never in the game as University High rolled to quarterleads of 21-7, 42-20 at intermission and 59-30 entering the stretch.

Snook used all 12 of his available players and all got in the scoring column.

In an opening round game it was Ashland that tumbled before the Tutors, 53-30, despite a ball control effort.

University High will take a 16-2 mark into the finals and in an earlier showdown defeated Falls City, 67-58 on the Tiger maples.

George Zarins paced the winners with 13 points, all garnered in the first half. Close on his heels was sophomore guard Ron Schroeder with 12 and Jerry Butcher with 11.

Coach Snook played his starters less than two minutes of the second half.

Mike Guilliatt presented Auburn with 16 points and Ron King added 10.

Falls City 43 Plattsmouth 41

The upset minded Plattsmouth team provided Falls City with its second thriller of the meet before falling in the final minute.

In the first half Plattsmouth built a 13-point lead — 25-12 — with 2:18 to play in the second quarter.

Coach Bob Henderson's Tigers closed the gap to 27-18 at intermission and then began to cut away at the margin. Falls City managed a 30-28 lead late in the 3rd period, but Plattsmouth roared back to lead, 35-30, early in the final stanza.

Ernie Strasil provided Falls City with its winning points. He got a fielder with 50 seconds to play to give FC a 42-41 lead then cashed in the first of a one-and-one free throw situation to end the scoring at 10 seconds.

Plattsmouth got off a desperation shot, but it hit the rim and fell off. In a first round game, Falls City had to battle equally as hard to edge Ralston, 51-50.

Strasil paced the wnnners with 18 points and Benny Maze added 15. Roger Beverage and William McGraw managed 10 each for Plattsmouth.

Governor Opposes Participation

. . . BY MISSISSIPPI STATE IN NCAA TOURNEY

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Ross Barnett threw his weight Wednesday behind the move to keep Mississippi State out of the NCAA Basketball Tournament.

Segregation forces oppose Mississippi State's participation in the National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs because the Bulldogs might meet a team with Negro players.

Barnett told his weekly press conference he felt participation "is not for the best interests of Mississippi State University, the state of Mississippi, or either of the races."

The governor's statement came a day after the State College Board scheduled a special meeting Saturday to discuss MSU's decision on the NCAA event.

Board sources said 5 of the 13 members, including 4 Barnett appointees, asked the meeting.

Mississippi State won an invitation to represent the Southeastern Conference in the tournament when it took its 3rd straight SEC championship. The team is No. 7 in this week's AP national rankings.

MSU President D. W .Colvard announced when the team wrapped up the SEC championships last week he would permit the Bulldogs to go to the NCAA national playoffs unless stopped by a higher authority.

The university faculty issued a statement earlier Wednesday approving the decision and Coach James Babe McCarthy and the players have expressed a wish to take part.

Shot Putter Withdraws From Meet

. . . O'BRIEN SAYS AAU THREAT IS REASON

Milwaukee (AP)—Veteran shot putter Parry O'Brien of Los Angeles withdrew Wednesday from the U.S. Track and Field Federation's indoor championships Saturday night championships Saturday night. drawal was forced by the Amateur Athletic Union which threatened to make O'Brien ineligible for all future open competition.

The indoor meet, sponsored by the Milwaukee Journal, is sanctioned by the new U.S. Track and Field Federation but not by the AAU. The two groups have been feuding for more than a year over control of track in the United States. Oliver Kuechle, Journal sports editor and meet director, said no AAU sanction was sought.

Kuechle said O'Brien entered the meet 3 weeks ago but withdrew Wednesday, saying the AAU "has prohibited my competition in your meet threatening disbarment for all future open competition because no AAU sanction." O'Brien is a two-time Olympic gold medal winner and former world record holder.

Kuechle said all other particpants in the meet are college undergraduates or graduate student and come under exclusive USTFF jurisdiction.

Walenz, Nissen Chief Husker Grapple Hopes

Nebraska heads into the Big 8 Wrestling Championships at Norman, Okla., this week end with hopes of two individual champions.

Steve Walenz, 115, and Mike Nissen, 123, are coach Bob Mancuso's top performers. Walenz, sophomore from Omaha North, has been beaten only once and has a 10-1-2 record. His only defeat was by one point.

Nissen, undefeated, with a 13-0 mark, should have slightly easier sailing. Nissen, a senior from Mason City, Ia., has scored 7 falls this season and has a 3-year unblemished dual meet record of 36 wins without defeat. He was 3rd in the NCAA meet a year ago. Mark McCracken, Oklahoma State, looms as the biggest obstacle in Nissen's path.

Mancuso predicts a 3-team title race between Big 8 and NCAA defending champion Oklahoma State, Oklahoma and Iowa State.

The Husker lineup: 115 — Walenz; 123 — Nissen; 130 — Chuck Martin or Dick VanSickle; 137 — Van Sickle or Bill Rosenthal; 147 — Larry LeBruska; 157 — Bob Lott; 167 — Ken Fox; 177 — Bruce O'Callaghan; 191 — Don McDermott; Hwt. — Bob Zartner.

Seward Loses To York, 58-55

. . . IN B SEMIFINALS

York — It had the aspects of a state tournament final.

However, it was only the semifinal match of the toughest Class B district in the state.

York dropped Seward, 58-55, Wednesday night to gain the finals set for Saturday.

At a jam-packed city auditorium, both teams played all-out as fans cheered wildly.

Tonight Crete will meet Aurora in the other 8 p.m. semifinal tilt.

York, paced by the 22-point effort of Keith Staehr, romped in the early stages of Wednesday's contest.

The Dukes, now 12-4, led by as much as 17 points in the well-played game.

The halftime score saw York leading, 39-28, but in the second half, Seward almost tipped the scales. In that final period, Seward tallied 19 points, 10 by Dick Beckler, the team's high with 19 for the night.

With 3 minutes to go, Seward's Vance Huges annexed two free throws to pull Seward within 5 points, 53-48.

Misfortune then struck the Bluejays. Two easy layups were muffed which, in the end, might have resulted in a Seward win.

Within the last 1:05, Seward tallied 6 points, but still fell short by 3 points.

Steve Welch added 12 points for the Dukes. John Lott and Doug Staehr scored 8 and Ron Kranz hit 6 for the victors.

Ray Thompson, fouled out with 1:20 left in the 3rd period, scored 11. And Vance Huges scored 8.

It was a revenge victory for York who has lost in earlier regular season games against Seward.

Seward	9	19	8	19	—55
York	20	19	10	9	—58

Winners high: Keith Staehr, 22; losers high: Dick Beckler, 19.

Harvard—Lawrence earned a ticket to the state Class D tournament by defeating Bruning, 53-48, Wednesday night.

Lawrence never got into any deep trouble on its way to the D playoff victory. It took control of the game early with a first-quarter lead, 16-10.

By halftime, Lawrence was out in front of Bruning, 28-20.

Bruning came back after the intermission to make the 3rd period its best, outscoring Lawrence, 17-12, and cutting Lawrence's lead to 3 points, 40-37.

But the final period didn't turn out as well for Bruning as it slowed down with 11 points, and allowed Lawrence 13 to make the final score read, 53-48.

Lawrence was sparked to its win by Robert Schroer who earned 16 points. The losers scoring leader was John Middendorf with 17.

Marquette Wins 74-68 Battle With Creighton

Omaha (UPI) — Marquette outplayed Creighton for a 39-26 halftime lead Wednesday night and fought off a stern Bluejay challenge in the final half for a 74-68 victory.

Marquette, one of the seeded teams in the National Invitational Tournament, outscored and out-rebounded the fumbling home club in the first half and at one time mounted a 20-point lead at 35-15.

However, the Bluejays, cut into the Warrior margin in the last half as 6-7 center Paul Silas began to find the range. Silas, the nation's leading rebounder, ran up 19 points in the last half after being limited by the Warriors' Dave Erickson to 3 free throws in the first half.

But the Bluejays couldn't come up with the key play after trimming the Marquette lead to 3 points at 63-60 and 65-62. Ron Glaser and Dick Nixon hit 7 free throws in the closing 90 seconds to ice the game for the Warriors.

Nixon, the outstanding floor player in the game, was high for Marquette with 20 points and Glaser finished with 18. Silas, however, led the scoring with 22. Creighton's Tom Apke chipped in 16.

Peru Cops District 11 Crown In NAIA Meet

Fremont (AP)—Bill Hunsaker dropped in a field goal with 15 seconds of the overtime period to go, giving Peru a 61-60 basketball victory over Wayne State Teachers and the District 11 NAIA championship.

Peru will represent District 11 in the NAIA tournament starting Monday in Kansas City.

The score was tied 51-all at the end of regulation play. In overtime Wayne jumped to a 59-55 lead but Peru closed the gap to 60-59 before Hunsaker's shot clinched the victory.

At the halftime it was Peru 26, Wayne 18. Peru watched a 13-point second half lead dwindle before a determined Wayne attack which tied the score at the end of the regular play.

Harassed Atheist Aided

. . . TEEN-AGERS POKE STUDENT'S BELIEFS

Baltimore (AP)—Baltimore police rescued a 16-year-old, self-avowed atheist Wednesday night from a group of teenagers who he said were harassing him in a corner drugstore because of his beliefs.

William J. Murray III, a junior at Polytechnic Institute in Baltimore, said the incident was not unusual. "It usually happens about once a day."

Murray is one of the petitioners in a case now pending before the U.S. Supreme Court which seeks to have Bible readings and recitation of the Lord's Prayer outlawed in public schools. Murray and his mother, Mrs. Madalyn Murray, contend such exercises violate their constitutional rights to freedom of religion.

"I really don't want any trouble. This was the second time today. I already had had my trouble for today," the 6-foot, 175-pounder said.

Murray said he and his 8-year-old brother had gone to the drugstore to pick up a carton of soft drinks when Wednesday night's incident took place.

"A group of 6 or 8 boys were in the store, and several of them made nasty remarks criticizing my school and my beliefs," Murray said.

"I ignored them, but on the way out, one of them got up from his stool and started waving a rosary and crucifix in front of my face. He kept saying 'Look, I believe.' I guess he felt he had to prove it to me," Murray said.

Police arrived shortly, after the drugstore owner notified them that a group of 4 or 5 teen-agers was waiting for Murray outside the store.

"I already had my trouble for today," Murray said. "A group of boys down at school surrounded me during recess and starting throwing coke on me.

Police Speedy

"I hardly ever get the police to react quickly enough to do anything about these incidents," he said, "but I guess they didn't realize who was involved Wednesday night, because they got there in less than 5 minutes.

"I'm sick and tired of all this. Maybe if some of these delinquents are taught a lesson once or twice, they'll leave me alone for their own sake, even if they don't respect other peoples' beliefs.

"They're nominal Christians. They go to church on Sunday, but they don't practice their religion the rest of the week. They're not even humanists like atheists."

Murray said the daily incidents were having an effect on his school work.

Can't Concentrate

"I have trouble doing my homework and doing it properly because these incidents put me in a mood where I have trouble concentrating," he said.

"My over-all average now is only about 78, but that's better than it was at Woodbourne (Junior High School). That's the only place I know that could average 3 80s and come up with a 60," he said.

It was while he was attending Woodbourne that the trouble between Murray and the Maryland School Board first flared up. His mother withdrew him from school there when authorities refused to excuse him from opening exercises that included Bible reading and the Lord's Prayer.

The Supreme Court has indicated it will rule in two or 3 months on the Murrays' suit to have Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer abolished at public schools.

Persistent Nakai Wins Race For Navajo Tribal Chairman

Window Rock, Ariz. (AP)—Persistence paid off for Raymond Nakai, newly - elected head of 92,000 Navajos, the largest Indian tribe in the United States.

Nakai, 45, a Flagstaff, Ariz., radio announcer and ordnance plant worker, was elected chairman of the tribal council in a two-day election completed Tuesday. The final, unofficial figures gave Nakai 10,503 votes to 8,804 for Paul Jones, who had held the $20,000-a-year job for two 4-year terms.

The tribe's executive secretary, J. Maurice McCabe, attributed Nakai's surprise victory to intensive campaigning throughout the vast Navajo reservation for the past 4 years.

Nakai had opposed Jones in the two previous elections. This time Jones was so confident of victory that he didn't stay around for the count.

In Washington, where he went to testify before a Senate committee, Jones wired congratulations, pledged his support, and advised his administrative officers to meet with Nakai and arrange an orderly transfer of office.

Alvo Man Found Dead On Road—Going For Help

Boyd C. Edwards, 62, of Alvo, was found dead on a Lancaster County road 2 miles north and 2½ miles west of the junction of Neb. 79 and U.S. 34 Wednesday afternoon.

Edwards, a salesman for Federal Cartridge Co., had been walking west to a farmhouse for help to get his car unstuck from mud and snow, according to Deputy Sheriff Harlan Kendle, acting coroner.

Kendle said Edwards had walked half a mile east to another farmhouse and found no one home. Waiting in the car was Mrs. Harry F. McClellan, a family friend who had been riding with Edwards.

COZAD STUDENT . . . presents governor a tray. Mrs. Wells, director, is in center.

2nd Trainable Unit Merit Now Proven

Mrs. Amelia Wells, director of the Cozad School for Trainable Mentally Retarded Children, told Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday she believes their experience at Cozad has proven the merit for establishing another such school in Nebraska.

She made the comment during a visit to the Governor's Office by 4 youngsters from the school who presented the chief executive with a ceramic pen tray they had made themselves.

Asked by Morrison where such a school should be located, Mrs. Wells answered that location would depend upon an accurate census to determine where these children now reside.

Nearness Important

She suggested that accessibility to their homes was important because of the necessity for emphasizing their home and community ties.

Thirty students attend the Cozad school, either as day students or residents who go home each weekend. The school has a waiting list of 28 youngsters.

Mrs. Wells suggested a school for 60 youngsters would be most desirable.

Morrison asked how an accurate census could be taken, and she suggested that a directive from him to local school boards and county superintendents would provide the necessary information.

Curtis Ag School?

The governor inquired about the possibility of converting the Curtis School of Agriculture to a center for the trainably retarded, and Mrs. Wells answered that its accessibility would have to be studied.

She also suggested Curtis might be too large a facility which would take on the aspects of an institution, thereby diminishing the results obtainable from a smaller program.

"We take away a child's right to be independent when we institutionalize him," Mrs. Wells said.

Before they left the Capitol Wednesday, the 4 youngsters, all 16 years of age, also visited the Legislature and presented each of the 43 lawmakers with ceramic ashtrays they had made.

Primary objective of their trip to Lincoln was to visit Lincoln's Occupational Training Center for the Mentally Retarded to see what jobs might be open in which they could receive training.

Unicam OKs Change In U.S. Constitution

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Wednesday adopted on a 28-10 count a resolution designed to make it easier for the states to amend the U.S. constitution.

According to a ruling of Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney, presiding officer of the Legislature, the resolution will require the signature of Gov. Frank Morrison to become effective.

Voting against the proposal, Resolution 4, were Sens. Edward Danner, Sam Klaver, Eugene Mahoney, William Moulton, Michael Russillo, William Skarda and George Syas, all of Omaha; Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington, Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion and Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper.

All 3 Lancaster County senators supported the resolution.

Lengthy Debate

Thirteen senators participated in lengthy debate on the measure, much of which threatened to revive the bitter pre-session skirmish between urban and rural spokesmen over legislative reapportionment.

Russillo led the assault.

In offering a motion to kill, the Omaha lawmaker argued that the proposal represents "an intense effort by the southern states to weaken the 14th Amendment."

Result of its ultimate approval, he said, would be "a rash of laws which will affect the well-being, the economy and the safety of all the states" and danger the nation's world prestige.

The resolution would "do much violence to the constitution," he contended.

Supporters of the proposal replied that its provisions would not allow easy amendment of the federal document, that they seek only to make the constitution "operative."

Asks Congress

The resolution actually asks Congress to call a constitutional convention to propose an amendment allowing two-thirds of the states to directly propose any amendment which would then become effective upon ratification of three-fourths of the states.

Russillo and Sen. George Syas of Omaha clashed with Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, architect of Nebraska's area apportionment amendment.

Ruhnke noted that the majority of the people should rule as they did in approving the area amendment.

But Syas replied that the majority of Nebraska's citizens live in urban areas, and thus should control a majority of legislative seats.

Sen. Terry Carpenter warned Syas that if he "keeps bringing up a charge of discrimination against urban areas, you may in fact establish it. By being so persistent, you will bring on the very thing you fear."

Supports Resolution

Carpenter supported the resolution, arguing that "the states must have the right and the method to protect themselves from complete domination by the federal government."

However, he pointed out, "we brought this situation on ourselves . . . for we have taken the cowardly position of delegating responsibility that belonged to us."

Later, Russillo challenged Burney's ruling that the resolution had been adopted subject to the governor's signature, arguing that legislative rules provide that such a resolution must move across the board in the same manner as a bill. He was turned down, 27-10.

Not voting on the resolution —chiefly sponsored by Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City—were Sens. Jules Burbach of Crofton, Peter Claussen of Leigh, Thomas Damrow of Beatrice, Richard Marvel of Hastings and Don McGinley of Ogallala.

Resolution 5, proposing an amendment prohibiting federal jurisdiction over state legislative reapportionment matters, will be debated next Tuesday.

Traffic Safety Bill Approved

Motorists who approach another motor vehicle from behind would be required to dim or tilt down their headlights when within 200 feet of the vehicle ahead under terms of a bill approved 39-1 on final reading in the Legislature Wednesday.

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln cast the only dissenting vote on the measure, LB260, introduced by Sens. M. M. Forrester of Anselmo and Albert Kjar of Lexington.

The bill was proposed as a traffic safety measure.

Also passed Wednesday was a bill under which drug addicts in Nebraska would be sent to the 4 state mental hospitals for treatment.

LB241, introduced by Sens. William Skarda Jr. of Omaha and Dale Payne of Papillion, sets up procedures for full hearings for a drug addict before commitment to one of the hospitals is ordered.

A drug user under the act is described as one who uses habit forming narcotic drugs "so as to endanger the public morals, health, safety or welfare," or who is so addicted as "to have lost the power of self control with reference to his addiction."

The full list of bills passed Wednesday:

LB296 (Payne)—Authorizing counties of more than 30,000 population which have adopted county zoning regulations to adopt sanitary regulations for the county. (40-0).

LB241 (Skarda, Payne)—Setting up procedure for commitment of drug addicts to the state's hospitals for the mentally ill. (40-0).

LB186 (Mahoney, Skarda, Klaver, Bahensky)—Increasing the non-resident hunting fee from $15 to $20, effective next Jan. 1. (38-1).

LB260 (Forrester, Kjar)—Requiring motor vehicle operator following another vehicle to dim headlamps when within 200 feet to the rear. (39-1).

LB87 (Payne, Syas)—Providing for voter registration in counties of more than 30,000 population except that the county board which has adopted county zoning regulations, must approve such voter registration. (42-0).

LB270 (Judiciary Committee)—Providing procedures for the sale of real estate by guardians. (41-0).

LB281 (Judiciary Committee)—Variously revising procedures for sale of real estate by executors and administrators of estates. (41-0).

Neglected Children Bill Is Withdrawn

Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln received legislative permission Wednesday to withdraw her LB447, dealing with placement of neglected or dependent children in the State Children's Home in Lincoln.

She said the ground is being covered in other legislation.

LB447 provided that when the state home was unable to accept children because of overcrowding, the children would remain the responsibility of the county rather than the state.

Paris Bank President Gunned Down

Paris (AP)—The president of a big Paris bank was gunned to death Wednesday in terrorist Secret Army style on a busy Paris street by a killer who first calmly asked him his name.

But police could offer no motive for the daring daylight slaying of Henri Lafond, 68, respected member of France's higher financial circles. His chauffeur was gravely wounded.

"We don't know if it's a crime of politics, passion or high finance," said the detective in charge of the investigation.

Cut Down

Lafond was cut down as he got out of his British-made black Rover limousine in front of a branch bank in suburban Neuilly, a short distance from the Arch of Triumph.

He had left his nearby home a few minutes before.

The killer, wearing a brown overcoat and snapbrim hat, pulled low over his eyes, walked up to the car as the chauffeur opened the door for Lafond, police said they were informed.

"Are you monsieur Lafond?" the killer asked.

When Lafond answered "yes" the gunman pulled a revolver from his overcoat pocket and blazed away point blank. He fired 6 shots. Four struck Lafond, one directly in the heart. Two slugs hit the chauffeur, Roger Bouscillou, 44.

Lafond toppled back into the car's back seat, spurting blood and clawing the leather upholstery. The chauffeur crumpled near the curb. Passersby stood transfixed as the killer ran to a nearby parked car and drove away into the busy traffic.

Hired Killer

Since the killer apparently did not know Lafond, police speculated that he was a hired gunman.

Lafond was president of the Banque de l'Union Parisienne, one of the largest commercial banks in Paris. Two years ago it absorbed the Algerian Company of Credits and Banks. But police said the bank's interests in Algeria are not large.

The Secret Army, formed to fight President De Gaulle when he decided to grant independence to Algeria, often kills in the manner in which the banker was slain.

But police said Lafond never took a public stand on Algeria and was never active in the stormy political life of present day France. They said despite the manner of the killing, there was no apparent connection with the Secret Army.

The banker lived quietly with his wife in an apartment in the same neighborhood as the branch bank.

Will Give Cement

Bonn (AP)—The West German government has announced a gift of 200 tons of cement to Libya to help repair damage from the earthquake Feb. 21 that killed more than 250 persons at Al Marj.

Salanitro Given Life Sentence For Kidnaping

Omaha (AP)—Junior James Salanitro, 20, was sentenced to life imprisonment by District Judge Robert L. Smith on a charge of kidnaping.

Salanitro of Omaha, was found guilty of holding 3 sons of Harry Lewis in the basement of their home while he tried to extort money by telephone from Lewis last July 21.

Lewis alerted police and the kidnapers' plans failed.

Harry Dean Tatreau, 20, Omaha, is awaiting trial in the same case.

Bard Helps JFK Answer Questions

Washington (UPI) —"Now is the winter of our discontent made glorious summer by this sun of York"—Richard III, Act I, Scene 1.

President Kennedy dipped into Shakespeare Wednesday to explain to reporters that although things are not going as well for his administration now as they could be, matters could be worse.

Asked whether his administration had "lost its momentum" at home and abroad the President said:

". . . if you ask me whether this was the 'winter of our discontent' I would say no. If you would ask me whether we were quite as well this winter as we were doing in the fall, I would say no."

Didn't Say

The President did not say whether he anticipated a "summer sun" of victories such as those which brightened Richard's gloomy days.

"There is a rhythm to a personal and national and international life as it flows and ebbs," the president said. He seemed almost in his phraseology to be swinging into the Shakespearean meter of "there is a tide in the affairs of men which taken at its flood leads on to fortune."

The President, lapsing into a somewhat philosophical mood, seemed almost to be saying that some days you just can't win.

Other Problems

U.S. success in blunting the Soviet military threat in Berlin and Europe has "brought with it in its wake other problems" such as the differences of opinion among the Western allies, the President said, but "I prefer these problems to the other problems."

He acknowledged that "Cuba continues to be a problem" but found solace in the observation that "there are advances in the solidarity of the hemisphere."

On the home front, Kennedy acknowledged that Congress has not acted yet on many of his major bills but offered the hopeful comment that "we are still in the gestation period in those areas."

The President's attitude in answering this and other questions seemed to reflect a certain element of frustration which afflicts the administration when it considers that in the wake of two major victories—dampening the peril of a Berlin crisis and forcing withdrawal of Soviet offensive weapons from Cuba—it still must defend itself daily against charges of incompetence and misinformation.

Flames Damage Brick Residence

Fire caused "considerable damage" to a one-story brick residence at 4111 Dudley, the Fire Department said Wednesday.

Fire was confined to one room, but smoke damage extended to the entire house which was occupied by Alfred Eckert and owned by Warren Hull.

Cause of the fire apparently was faulty wiring and switch in a floor lamp, the department said.

BIG ENOUGH FOR A BATTLESHIP

Hot metal from the sky—possibly an airplane part—ripped this hole in the third-floor wall of the John Maxwell residence in Cleveland Wednesday night. Vic Tulauskas, 13, a neighbor of the Maxwells, found that he could put his model aircraft carrier all the way through the outer hole in the wall. The triangle-shaped cast iron piece weighed about 6 pounds.

BEER KEG EXPLOSION CLAIMS TWO IN CHICAGO

Chicago (AP)—A beer keg being tapped exploded Wednesday in a south side tavern, killing the bartender and the co-owner of the tavern.

Three customers escaped injury.

John Ghidotti, 61, the bartender, was dead on arrival at Roseland Community Hospital, and Peter Baldassiri, 72, the co-owner, died a few hours later in the same hospital.

Policeman Herbert Kordeck said the explosion hurled a piece of metal into Ghidotti's head and that Baldassari suffered a shattered left arm and internal injuries.

Detective Anthony Pruncle said the explosion happened when the men inserted a tube into the keg so the beer could be drawn out under pressure.

Gary Is Thanked And All That Jazz

Richmond, Va., (AP)—Rep. J. Vaughan Gary, D-Va., received a letter this week from a high school girl asking some material for her school work. She concluded her courteous letter with:

"Thank you and all that jazz."

VENDING MACHINE MAGNATE IS ROBBED

Miami Beach (UPI) — Vending machine magnate Robert Z. Greene and his socialite wife were robbed of an estimated $120,000 in jewels Wednesday by a bedroom burglar who told them: "Put your head under the cover and you won't get hurt."

The bandit entered the couple's bedroom following their return from the Easter Lily Charity Ball at the plush Surf Club.

Greene phoned police after the intruder slipped through a door onto a balcony and disappeared.

Investigators later found the burglar had taken only a dressing table drawer into which Mrs. Greene had put her jewels when she returned home from the ball.

Police said they were checking a number of possible leads, but had no suspects.

The jewels taken included a platinum and diamond brooch valued at $35,000, a diamond ring worth $29,500, a platinum and diamond necklace worth $12,000, a platinum and diamond bracelet, $18,500, and diamond earrings, $15,000, plus a wedding ring valued at around $10,000, police said.

The burglar apparently managed to slip past 3 dogs — two Poodles inside the house and a Doberman Pinscher, a breed noted as watchdogs, prowling outside.

Seward Crash Hurts Two Men

Two Omaha men were released after treatment at Seward Hospital in Seward after their car hit an embankment coming off Interstate 80 onto Neb. 15 about 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The driver, Wayne C. Rollins, 26, suffered bruises to his face, and cuts to legs, knees and chest.

A passenger, Robert Anderson, 33, received severe lacerations to the forehead and nose. Ten stitches were taken in his forehead, a hospital spokesman said, and 5 in his nose.

The State Patrol said the car they were riding in was demolished.

City Accepts 2.8% Rate On Special Bonds

The City Council Wednesday accepted the low bid of Stern Brothers of Kansas City, Mo., for an interest rate of 2.79597% on $986,000 worth of special assessment district bonds.

City Finance Director James Mallon told the council the net interest would be $290,670 on the 20-year issue and was "an extremely excellent sale."

Mallon said interest rate of 5 other bids received ranged upwards to some $13,000 more than Stern Brothers' bid.

Other bidders and net average interest rate were: Chemical Bank New York Trust Co., 2.8234801%; Northern Trust Co., 2.82368%; Halsey, Stuart & Co., 2.82724%; John Nuveen & Co., 2.887%, and Van Horne Investments Inc., 2.92361%.

The special assessment issue covers $764,000 worth of paving districts, $95,000 for sewer districts, and $127,000 for water districts.

The bonds are retired from revenue on the various special assessment districts covered by the issue.

Stock Market Is Sluggish, Slow

New York (AP) — The stock market once again groped its way through a sluggish and irregular session Wednesday with trading continuing at the slowest rate in three months.

Volume dropped to 3.09 shares from Tuesday's 3.29 million and was the lightest since Jan. 2 when 2.54 million shares changed hands.

The market statistics were contradictory, but most of the actively-traded issues were higher, reflecting some selective demand as well as short covering.

In the final hours prices perked up and dealings became a bit livelier. The improvement was sufficient enough to rescue the list from a slight decline.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended with a gain of .92 at 668.08.

In the overall list of 1,264 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by 501 to 457. New highs for 1962-63 totaled 12 and new lows five.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at 253.9 with industrials up .7, rails off .6, and utilities off .1.

Motors were the pacemakers in the late recovery move.

Twelve of the 16 most active stocks advanced, two declined and two were unchanged.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher on volume of 710,000 shares compared with 730,000 Tuesday.

Corporate bonds were unevenly lower. U.S. government bonds unchanged to lower.

Grain Futures Post Losses

Chicago (AP) —The generally weaker trend in grain futures prices carried through a third consecutive day on the Board of Trade Wednesday with losses of a cent or more at the extreme in nearly all commodities.

Soybeans, down two cents or more in spots, yielded all of Tuesday's gains and more as early profit cashing drove the market into stop loss selling.

Wheat was ⅝-1 cent a bushel lower at the close, March $2.07⅞-08; corn 1⅛-1¾ lower, March $1.15-15½; oats ¾-¾ lower, March 73¼-¾; rye ½-1½ lower, March $1.31½-31; soybeans ¾-2¼ lower, March $2.63-63⅛.

Where Was Carter Lake Raid Booze?

Council Bluffs, Iowa—The question arose Wednesday as to whether 48 bottles of liquor and a car seized when the Shangri-La Club in Carter Lake was raided by Iowa officers were in Iowa or Nebraska.

To settle that question a surveyor is busy at work.

The liquor and car was seized last week and Matt Walsh, attorney for defendant Leo Kubik of Carter Lake, filed a motion Wednesday to suppress evidence on the grounds the auto was in Nebraska—not Iowa. The liquor was found in the car and bore Nebraska tax stamps.

The car was parked in the club lot and Pottawattamie County Attorney Noran Davis said "we are convinced that part of the front of the auto was in Iowa."

Davis said the lot is paved for a distance east of the club and that the east edge of the paving is apparently the Iowa-Nebraska line. The car, Davis said, was facing west with the front "perhaps a short distance over the concrete."

Rogacki was driving south on Worthington while Bowers was eastbound on Stockwell.

Hallam Man's Death Increases '62 Toll To 401

Beatrice (AP)—George Focken, 76, of Hallam died in a Beatrice hospital Wednesday after being hospitalized since last Aug. 30 when he was injured in a collision between his pickup truck and a semi-trailer construction truck on a county road about 11 miles northwest of Beatrice.

He suffered a neck injury and paralysis of the lower part of his body.

In Lincoln, Tom Ryan, chief of the State Accident Records Bureau, said Focken's death will be classified as a traffic fatality.

He said information supplied the bureau established that death resulted from the accident injuries.

The death will be counted against the 1962 total because the accident occurred last year. It raises the 1962 year-long total to 401 deaths.

Bill To Request Funds For Accounting Study

A bill will be introduced in the Legislature Thursday requesting an appropriation of $50,000 for the initial stage of a detailed study of state accounting systems and methods, Sen. Richard Marvel said Wednesday.

Marvel, chairman of the Unicameral's Budget Committee, said it will propose hiring a consulting firm which would come back about midway with specific recommendations on what statute changes should be made in the accounting system.

The Legislature, Marvel added, "will never be in a position to plan or control as far as money is concerned until the state's accounting system is brought up to date."

Final implementation of what the Budget Committee has in mind would cost approximately $250,000.

Marvel said in addition to $200,000 for the complete study, some $50,000 more would be needed in the budget of the state tax commissioner during the next two years.

Firm Chosen

Peat, Marwick and Mitchell, an accounting firm with offices in Omaha and Lincoln, has been selected to make the first phase of the study. It began work Monday reviewing operations of the State Agriculture Department's accounting system.

Marvel said Wednesday no hiring could be done until the Legislature appropriated the money. In answer to a question, he said Peat, Marwick and Mitchell had tentatively been selected.

During the discussion, Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff said "this is probably one of the most important procedures this body can authorize."

He said the executive department doesn't have the staff to go into detail on budgetary matters and has to rely mostly on the recommendations of department heads.

Outdated System

"We have probably the most outdated accounting system in the country," Carpenter said. "It's sort of like doing business out of a cigar box."

Marvel said the governor has been advised of what the committee is doing and has designated the state tax commissioner as his representative.

"The tax commissioner and the state auditor are fully in accord with the need of this study," Marvel said.

He distributed to the lawmakers copies of "primary reasons for (the) accounting study."

Among the reasons listed:

—The Legislature has need of more adequate information about the financial requirements of state departments, agencies, boards and commissions and should know "by function, and activity (program budgeting) instead of by object of expenditure."

—The study will establish the basis for centralized uniform accounting control over available funds, revenues, expenditures and obligations and prompt reporting of financial affairs.

—Estimated savings of more than $25,000 a year can be made in central accounting alone.

—The need for such a study has long been recognized. A report of the Legislative Council Committee in 1960 made recommendations for state reorganization of accounting and data processing functions. In addition, the governor, a former legislative budget committee, the state tax commissioner, the legislative fiscal analyst, the state auditor, and several departments and agencies have recommended or supported such a study.

Chamber At Cozad Denies Union Charges

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Cozad — The Cozad Chamber of Commerce has denied charges that it had engaged in unfair labor practices affecting commerce under the National Labor Relations Act.

Along with the Monroe Auto Equipment Co., the chamber was accused by the United Automobile Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America, AFL-CIO, in a letter to the National Labor Relations Board.

In part, the charge said:

". . . with the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce of Cozad (acting as its agent or in its interest), the employer has circularized or caused to be circularized literature to the employes designed to coerce or interfere with their protected activity and to aid, support or assist a company union.

"It has arranged for a denial to the employes and the undersigned union of access to various public facilities for meeting while said facilities have been offered and are being made available for the formation of a company-dominated and assisted labor organization."

According to Hugh E. Sperry, regional director for the NLRB, an investigation of the charge is upcoming.

The Monroe company and the chamber have filed a written account of the facts and circumstances and a statement of position with respect to the allegations outlined in the charge. The NLRB has ordered such a report complete by Wednesday.

"We can and do deny the charge that the chamber organization was working as an agent for Monroe Auto Equipment Co.," declared Chamber President Dale Devine.

In answer to the NLRB, the chamber enclosed a copy of a letter it had circulated to Monroe workers, saying in part:

". . . trust you will conclude from reading this letter that it was certainly not designed to coerce or interfere with the proposed activity of employes, but rather it was intended to supply the employes with facts and to state the position of the Chamber of Commerce. Further, this letter certainly does not aid, support or assist a company union, and the chamber, as an entity, is not even aware of any effort to organize a company union."

The chamber also denied the charge of withholding public facilities for meetings.

Devine said the allegations were answered with "general denials, as the allegations themselves are no more than broad generalizations."

He said the chamber has asked for more specific facts, names and addresses.

At the same time, he pledged the NLRB complete co-operation from the chamber in "clearing up the matter."

No Gambling At VFW Club, Claims Brown

Omaha (AP) — Melvin L. Brown, commander of VFW Aviation Post 1729, denied Wednesday that there was any gambling at the post Tuesday night as charged by Robert G. Ott of Council Bluffs.

Brown and Walter Sillik, a club member who lives in Carter Lake, were arrested Wednesday on charges of assault and battery on a complaint by Ott.

Ott told police he had engaged in a dice game with Sillik and that after he won $100 Sillik and Brown beat him.

Brown said that Ott, not a club member, wandered into a private meeting called to discuss a 30-day club suspension ordered recently by State VFW commander William Tomek of David City. The suspension followed a raid on a club stag party at which police said they stopped a strip-tease act.

Brown said Ott was told to leave but refused to do so and then tried to hit Sillik with a bar stool.

The Lion's Busy
The March lion is bringing you the opportunity to buy an acreage in the most sought-after area by Lincoln, southeast along Highway 2. On the market for the first time, this 2-bedroomer has room for expansion, 1½ baths, large living room with two picture windows and fireplace. A breezeway leads to the 2-stall garage. There is a barn and other buildings. Plenty of pasture for your horses, too. And, youngsters, listen: The picturesque pond is stocked with bass, bluegills, and bullheads. We expect to show this to a flock of people. Don't be a sorry lamb at the end of March. If you feel you are a qualified buyer, phone soon — but if the "lion's busy, call right back!

Here's How To Work it

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another, in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
